Select Site For Huge By-Products Plant

ANAHEIM IS SELECTED BY CITRUS FIRM

Construction of two large citrus by-products plants, equipment for which will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, will begin soon at the northeast corner of Commercial street and the Union Pacific railroad tracks, just north of Anaheim, E. L. Hackley, president of Cal-Juices, Inc., announced today.

The site for the plants, a minimum of five acres, to serve the Mutual Orange Distributors' Association, was selected this morning. Although the cost of the site, a large tract, was not revealed, the cost of the equipment was estimated and it was said 200 persons will be employed there within two years.

Other Sites Considered
Selection of Orange county as location of the site was deemed a "feather in the county's cap" inasmuch as MOD is a state-wide organization and sites in other counties.

Statesman Sought To Lead France

PARIS, Jan. 14.—(UP)—President Albert Lebrun sought desperately today for a strong statesman to form a government to replace the shattered Lefevre popular front and make an effort to lead the country out of a grave financial crisis.

Trading in the franc was suspended and it was considered imperative to form a government over the week end which would be prepared to take energetic measures to halt the fall of the franc, stop the flight of capital, replenish the treasury and deal with the intricate labor problem.

But leaders were reluctant to accept the task abandoned by Premier Camille Chautemps when he resigned early today.

BANK BUILDING WORKERS OUT

Eleven workers employed on the new building of the Bank of America in Laguna Beach walked out this morning because of a dispute over union affiliations of several men employed by the Weber-Shaw Case and Fixture company, of Los Angeles.

According to a report, Dan Kelly, business agent of A. F. of L. unions here, was threatened with a hammer by one of the show case employees. The dispute did not get beyond words, however, and no violence resulted, it was stated.

Settlement Seen
Kelly contacted headquarters of the Bank of America in San Francisco today and according to Jack Trendle, secretary of the Orange County Labor council, it is expected that the dispute will be settled by Monday and work resumed.

Two electricians and three plasterers, four carpenters and three laborers walked off the job. One report was that the show case company employees were affiliated with a company union not recognized by the American Federation of Labor, while another was that the men, while previously holding membership with the A. F. of L., are not affiliated with the organization at the present time.

SPECULATE ON NAVY PLANS IN FAR EAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(UP)—The navy department's decision to have three light cruisers pay a courtesy call at Singapore aroused speculation today as to whether the new ships may be destined for permanent service in Asiatic waters. With a heavy cruiser, they are enroute to Sydney, Australia, where they will attend a sesquicentennial celebration.

Both navy and state department officials asserted that the ships, regularly assigned to the fleet's cruiser divisions, will participate only in the formal opening of the new naval docks of the British gulf naval base at Singapore. Every effort was made at the state and navy departments to make the Singapore visit appear routine.

In most circles it was hailed, however, as a gesture of friendly cooperation between the British and American navies, timed to have an important influence in the Far East where American-Japanese and British-Japanese relations are strained.

COAST GUARD PLANE STARTS MERCY TRIP

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Emergency medical aid for a crew member of the Tunaboat Paramount, today was rushed to Cerros Island, 60 miles south of here off the Mexican coast, by a coast guard airplane.

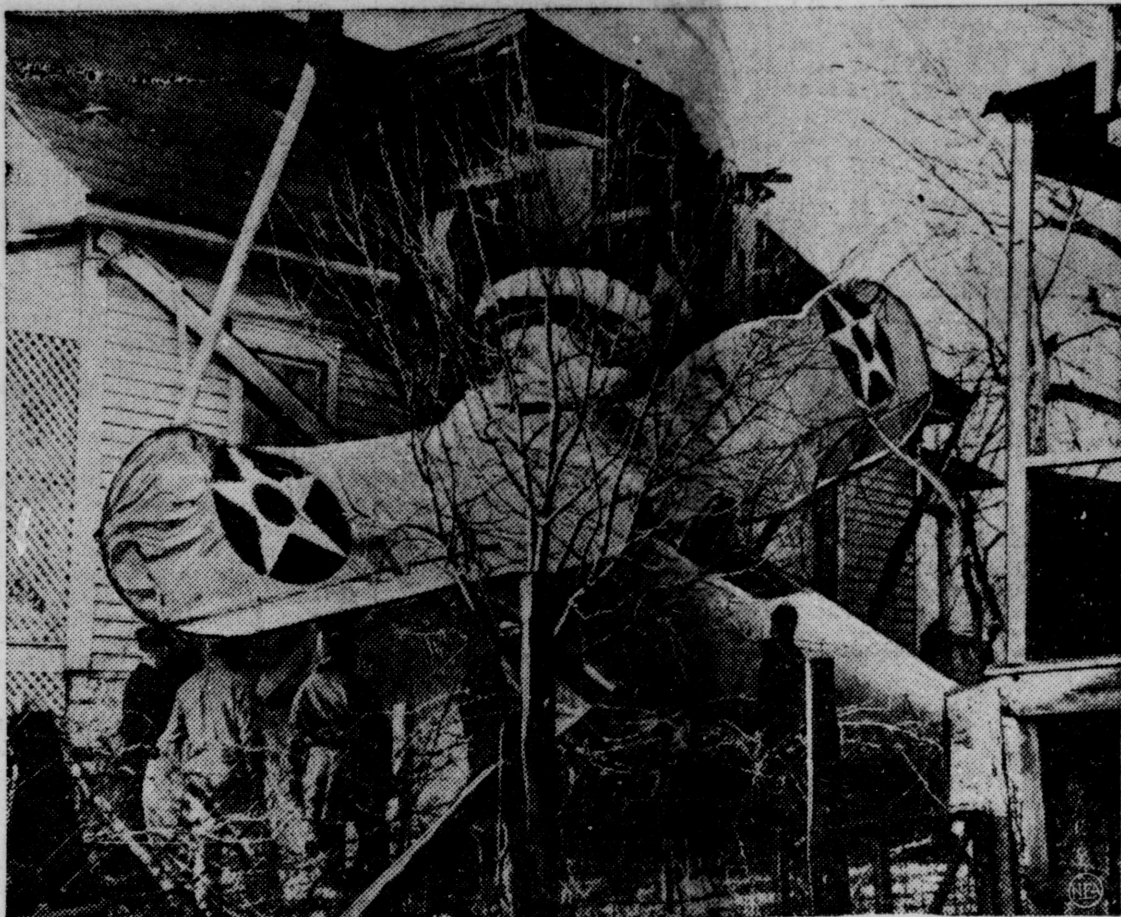

Lieut. S. C. Linholm was at the controls of the big amphibian plane when it took off at 8 a. m.

Name of the fisherman, who was described in radio reports as having been stricken dangerously ill, was not given.

Pilots Were Out When This Plane Dropped In

No one was injured when a navy-marine plane paid an unexpected and unwelcome call at a Kansas City, Kan., home, with the results pictured above. Unable to pull the ship out of a spin, Capt. Benjamin B. Southworth, and his observer, William H. Gregory, bailed out, landing safely with parachutes. The occupants of the home were badly frightened but unhurt as the plane tore into the roof, then settled into the yard between houses.

Farm Executive Warns Growers In Attack On Communism; Urges Action

Subversive elements are working to break down the American form of government, declared George Graham, of Placentia, secretary of the Associated Farmers of Orange county, speaking before growers of the Central Lemon Association yesterday afternoon at an annual meeting held at the Orange Woman's clubhouse.

Graham bluntly accused the leader of the C. I. O., John L. Lewis, of following out policies of Communism and declared that the American Federation of Labor had lost "Americanism" from its title. Dave Beck, head of the Teamsters union, he declared, is a ruthless gangster, who he said, "plays" with the A. F. of L.

"Growers Must Unite"
Graham declared a serious labor condition faces growers, that the communistic program is one of the shrewdest of programs "with the ultimate aim of overthrowing the United States government and bringing on a bloody revolution."

The A. F. of L. and the C. I. O. are going to organize all agricultural laborers, he said, and are centering their activities on California. In the past six months 700 workers have been signed up in this vicinity, said Graham.

"Growers must unite in their efforts. Great care in selection of picking foremen must be taken," said the secretary, "as he is a vital factor in controlling labor."

NAVY PLANS MASS FLIGHT TO HAWAII

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Take-off of 18 navy patrol bombers, with a personnel of 127 officers and men, on a non-stop flight to Hawaii has been advanced 24 hours, it was announced today.

Originally scheduled to leave here Wednesday, the bombers of patrol squadrons nine and 10 will depart Tuesday, instead—weather permitting—aircraft scouting force staff officers said.

Reason for the advance in date is the fact good flying conditions are almost assured for the 24-hour period beginning Tuesday, navy officers said.

The flight is expected to require about 18 hours.

NEW ORLEANS HANGS THREE BANK BANDITS

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 14.—(UP)—Three bank bandits were hanged in the Orleans parish prison today for the murder of a bank messenger seven years ago during a holdup in which another man was killed and a third critically wounded.

White-faced and nervous, the three—Owen Cauche, Joseph Ugarte and Anthony Dallao—walked from their last Catholic services with two priests and two sisters to the scaffold.

Grand Jury Takes Look At "Beef"

BULLETIN
Appearance of Frank Andrews, Laguna Beach realty dealer, before the county grand jury just before the noon recess today, was taken as indication that the grand jury had resumed inquiry into the case of Supervisor N. E. West, after briefly hearing testimony regarding union activities in the county.

The grand jury auditor was slated for a session with the inquisitorial body late today, it was understood.

The grand jury today was believed to have had a look at "beef" instead of "beefing."

LOTTERY CASE HEARING SET

Surrender of C. W. "Big Hutch" Hutchings, Balboa beer dealer and game operator, in Los Angeles this afternoon completed the round-up of Orange county men indicted by the federal grand jury in connection with a huge Santa Anita sweepstakes lottery, as the government dragnet swung toward Texas, to seize more distant members of the asserted lottery ring.

Hutchings, accompanied by his attorney, S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney, who also represents Santa Ana Police Chief Floyd W. Howard and Ernest Wimbler, Santa Ana mortician, in the lottery case, appeared in Los Angeles at 2 p. m. today, to accept service of the warrant charging him with violating the customs act, and to post $2000 bail.

Others Surrender
Henry W. McKague, former federal prohibition agent, and Howard Atkinson, of Santa Ana, had surrendered yesterday with Edward F. Hayes, Los Angeles liquor dealer. Chief Howard and Wimbler surrendered yesterday.

With tomorrow noon set by U. S. Marshal Robert Clark as the deadline for voluntary surrender of the 13 defendants indicted, federal authorities in Texas prepared to apprehend Frank N. Thayer, asserted ring-leader in the lottery enterprise, and two other defendants reported to be in that border area.

One of these, George W. Luigart, surrendered to federal agents in San Antonio, Texas, this morning, after learning that a warrant for his arrest had been issued.

EXECUTE TEXAN FOR "54-CENT MURDER"

STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Insisting "I never felt happier," 28-year-old Elvin Jack Odom stepped into the state prison gas chamber at dawn today and his life was ended in retribution for a 54-cent murder.

Odom, Texas cotton picker, killed Charles E. Goade, 55, fellow farm worker, as Goade lay asleep in a wagon. He expected to rob the victim of $1500 but got only a handful of coins.

The killer, 12th to die in Arizona's lethal chamber, suffered from both epilepsy and asthma, and Warden A. J. Barnes took unusual precautions to assure that these ailments did not interfere with the gassing.

The oil slick, and tiny fragments of wood, paper and clothing that drifted across it, were all that remained of the giant Pan American Airways flying boat which was lost Tuesday. Lieut. T. B. Williamson, piloting the island's only airplane, returned last night from another search and said he found no bodies. He believed that all had gone down with the wreckage to be lost forever.

The coat worn by T. J. Findley, the clipper's radio operator, was found in the water. Several holes were burned through it.

FORMER BOXER HELD AS MURDER SUSPECT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Homer V. Owens, 32, Negro boxer and cook, was held in jail here today on a murder charge following the death of Penny May Smith, 26, Negress.

Miss Smith was fatally stabbed during a quarrel in her hotel room, police said. Detective Ben Wells quoted her as saying before she died that "Owens did it."

WRECK CAUSE FOUND
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(UP)—A broken archbar was believed to have caused the wreck of a Southern Pacific freight train at Kerman, Cal., in which six trespassers were killed last Nov. 23, the Interstate Commerce Commission Bureau of Safety reported today.

Six other trespassers were badly hurt when seven cars plunged off the track.

Engaged

Exotically beautiful Grand Duchess Kira of Russia wears on her left hand a huge solitaire as befits the girl who is engaged to marry the grandson of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany, handsome young Prince Louis Ferdinand, Kira, the daughter of Grand Duke Cyril, claimant of the Russian throne, and her fiancé fell in love at first sight.

TWO ESCAPE IN FREAK ACCIDENT

Dr. A. H. Wightman, Laguna Beach physician, and his nurse, Miss Marguerite Dougherty, narrowly escaped serious injury in an accident yesterday afternoon in the doctor's office at 240 Coast Boulevard north, according to reports today from the physician's office.

Dr. Wightman was knocked unconscious when he attempted to aid Miss Dougherty, who suffered a shock when she came in contact with a wire attached to an X-ray machine, firemen said. Both were knocked to the floor Miss Dougherty having her ankle injured in the fall, and Dr. Wightman having lost consciousness when his head came in contact with a wire.

Victims Recovering
Dr. B. J. Van Dorn and the first aid squad of the Laguna Beach Fire department under Capt. Jack McLaughlin were called to aid the victims of the electric shocks. When Dr. Wightman regained consciousness, he was taken to his home at Emerald Bay, while Miss Dougherty was removed to her home at 322 Poplar street. Both were reported recovering today from their experiences.

According to reports of the accident, Dr. Wightman and Miss Dougherty were preparing to make X-rays when the accident occurred. Apparently there was a "short" in the wires leading to the machine as the X-ray machine itself had not been turned on, reports stated.

LAUNCH SEARCH FOR WESTMINSTER MAN

R. C. Hammond, of Westminster, Standard Oil company employe at Huntington Beach, has been reported missing by Mrs. Hammond, according to Huntington Beach police. Following Hammond's failure to return home Wednesday night, a search was made and his car found parked on a street in the beach. His wallet, with a sum of money, was found in the car.

Word of the man's disappearance was broadcast over the county police radio system. Hammond is 40 years old, six feet in height, weighs 140 pounds and was wearing a brown suit and grey cap at the time of his disappearance.

Will Found Void; No Date On Paper

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—(UP)—The will of Tom Finn, late prominent political leader and public figure, is invalid because no date appears on the document, it was disclosed today.

Finn left his entire estate of more than $10,000 to his widow.

The will, written in Finn's own hand, was found in his safety deposit box. Across the top was "February ....". The blank space for the date was not filled in, rendering the entire will worthless, attorneys said.

Finn was former state assemblyman, San Francisco sheriff and Republican political leader.

WARNING IS SOUNDED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt today issued a flat warning that all holding companies must be eliminated from the nation's economic structure.

The President made the assertion in discussing the general situation regarding public utilities.

He declared that his opposition to holding companies is not confined to the utility field and cited those which control banking activities as another example of the type which should be eliminated.

Declares Purpose
Mr. Roosevelt was asked flatly whether he was driving toward the elimination of all holding companies of whatever type and replied that that was his purpose.

Mr. Roosevelt's views were presented as the White House revealed.

McNUTT MAKES ISLAND SURVEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(UP)—Paul V. McNutt, American high commissioner to the Philippine Islands, is making a flying survey of American interests in the Far East and will report personally to President Roosevelt early next month, it was asserted in high official quarters today.

McNutt now is on a tour of investigation of Japanese land holdings on the island of Mindanao where Japanese virtually control the important hemp industry and are asserted to have some 15,000 nationally concentrated around the important hemp port at Davao.

May Visit Shanghai
Upon his return to Manila he is expected to take passage on an American warship and go to Shanghai to confer with Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, and other American officials. President Roosevelt and state department officials are concerned over the Shanghai situation where Japanese threats of encroachment on control of the international settlement are considered alarming from the point of view of American rights and interests in the rich China port.

Navy officials were not certain whether McNutt would proceed to Shanghai aboard the U. S. S. cruiser Augusta, flagship of the Asiatic fleet which is now undergoing overhaul in the Philippines. They said the Augusta's overhaul probably would be completed in time for the flagship to leave for Shanghai about Jan. 17.

DEATH LINKS STAR WITH UNKNOWN FAN

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.—(UP)—Succeeding in death what he had attempted in vain for more than two decades of his life, Clark Aldard at last gained the attention today of Miss Marion Davies, the woman he loved—from afar.

He adopted the simple expedient of leaving the major portion of his small estate to her, and then clinched his plans by naming her as one of the executors. Her share is approximately $10,000.

Miss Davies, who is earning that same sum currently at Warner Brothers for doing nothing while the experts ponder her movie future, must help settle the affairs of her unknown lover in court and so will be stamped indelibly upon her mind—as he had planned it eight years ago—the fact that Clark loved her, even unto death.

MORE RAINFALL IS NEEDED IN SIERRAS

FRESNO, Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—The High Sierras must receive at least one more inch of snow fall than normal this year if there is to be a normal runoff of waters in the San Joaquin Valley this spring, United States Meteorologist Walter E. Bonnett reported today.

Bonnett pointed out that while rainfall up to the end of 1937 was normal, most of the rain fell below the 7,000 foot level above which most of the spring runoff is retained. In addition, he said a large percentage of the heavy rainfall in December fell within 48 hours and ran off quickly.

GRAND JURY STARTS QUIZ INTO "BEEF"

ed Farmers, who today laid a protest before District Attorney W. F. Menton against union methods assertedly exemplified by the beating of Willard Lake sr., Santa Ana truck operator, also were observed entering the grand jury chamber at the courthouse.

West Side-Tracked

It appeared, accordingly, that the grand jury had at least temporarily sidetracked the accusations of Supervisor N. E. West against a group of county officials, who had obtained a grand jury investigation of the supervisor's charges.

The Associated Farmers group, about ten strong, remained closed with the grand jury for some time. George Graham, official of the organization, and Dr. Lee Deming of Buena Park, headed the group.

Appearing before the district attorney, the agricultural and industrial representatives demanded that proper measures be taken for the maintenance of order in Orange county, according to a statement by Graham, following the interview with Menton.

Resent Violence

Referring to the attack upon

Lake, after he had refused to join the teamsters union, Graham declared that "the farmers of Orange county resent the efforts of any organization to accomplish by violence what is properly the subject of negotiation."

Graham said his group had approved the request to appoint five additional deputy sheriffs, a proposal now pending before the county supervisors, and had represented to the district attorney the necessity of additional officers to provide protection for the rural areas.

"We are for a square deal all around," said Graham. "That means that we maintain the right to peacefully pursue our daily affairs without interference from individuals or organizations. It means that we claim the right to freedom of the highways. It means the right to move our crops without threat to our lives and property. It means, in brief, public order and public safety, the first responsibility of government."

"We ask of government both the means and the disposition to maintain order. That is why we are interested in the Lake case. That is why we are before the district attorney. We come as friends of government and as interested citizens, to give our support to the officials who are studying these problems."

The College of Law, University of Cincinnati, is the oldest west of the Alleghenies and the fourth oldest in the United States.

F. D. R. IN WAR ON HOLDING CONCERNS

ed the President will confer with additional business and labor leaders including Thomas W. Lamont, J. P. Morgan Co., partner, Owen D. Young, General Electric chairman and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his opposition to utilities holding firms which he outlined in his Jackson Day address last Saturday evening. He repeated that a situation in which $600,000,000 of holding company capital controls a $13,000,000,000 public utility industry could not be tolerated.

Several Methods

The president declared there were several methods of achieving the elimination of holding companies in all lines of business but declined to state at this time what avenue of approach he would use. He indicated this decision is in the formative stage.

Asked if holding companies of the first degree would be excluded from his drive he declared, why have any holding firms at all. Mr. Roosevelt opened the discussion by reading extracts from a memorandum submitted to him in November by Wendell Willkie, Commonwealth and Southern executive.

The President remarked that lots of water had gone over the dam since the memorandum was drafted. He declared that the memorandum treated the utilities industry as a whole and not individually. To him, he said, it indicated that the 4 per cent tail was still wagging the 96 per cent dog. He made frequent allusions to the 4 per cent holding company capital which he contended controlled the remainder of the industry's 96 per cent capital investment.

Opposes Plan

One of the suggestions made by Willkie was modification of the so-called death sentence provision of the utilities holding company act the President said the administration can never agree to that, he added.

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated that the government held to its policy of giving loans and grants to municipalities where state permission has been given for the construction of publicly owned utilities or the purchase of privately operated companies. He noted that the right of the government to proceed thusly had been upheld by the Supreme Court.

He said that the ideal situation where proposed or projected public ownership was concerned would be for the city to offer a fair price for the private company. If the price is refused, he said, there would have to be parallel systems.

Calcutta, capital of Bengal, India, has a population of more than 1,300,000.

FARM EXECUTIVE IN ATTACK ON LABOR

ham was introduced by the president of the association, Hugh T. Thompson.

Estimating the lemon crop to be shipped through the California Fruit Exchange for this season at 20,000 cars, Fred Mayer, of the sales department, said he believed the fruit would be marketed at a good price. Directors were elected and an annual report was presented by the secretary and manager, Roy Rannels, who was highly commended by the president.

Other speakers were C. E. Skiles, secretary and manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange; John Allen, field foreman, who predicted heavy picks for May, June and July and the heaviest in the association, to take place in the fall. Roy Willis made a short talk on pest control. Herman Nixon of the California Fruit exchange, gave figures on increased lemon production and told what it means to the industry, outlining steps to increase consumption.

Former directors were returned to their places. They are: Hugh T. Thompson, who has served 14 years; Wade Flippen, for 18 years; Felton Browning of Tustin, nine years; J. L. Clayton, five years and M. V. Allen, 14 years.

SITE SELECTED FOR BY-PRODUCTS PLANT

ties have been under consideration since Cal-Juices, Inc., was formed a month ago. Three sites in Anaheim had been considered. When completed, the plants will be ready to handle 100 tons of fruit daily. They will turn out four types of by-product, concentrate, canned orange juice, citrus oil (flavoring) and cow feed (from the shell of oranges).

The site selected is known as the Commercial Industrial Land company tract, President Hackley said.

Ideally Located

"In choosing the site we determined it was ideally and centrally situated to handle present and future needs," he said. "The acreage selected was larger than some may expect because we planned for future expansion."

Cal-Juices directors today were negotiating for an architect who will draw plans immediately. Following completion of the buildings sometime during the summer, operations will begin, officials said, with a limited crew. The crew will be enlarged as necessary. Anaheim area was selected as site for the plant because it is in the heart of the Valencia orange country and Orange county Valencias are reputed to be of superior type.

RUSH HIGHWAY WORK

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—The new Altamont Pass highway, breaking the bottleneck between Alameda county and the San Joaquin Valley, may be ready for traffic by July, H. S. Payson, resident engineer for the state highway division predicted today. Payson said the project was 15 per cent completed.

A French shepherd left his black bread and milk in a cave some 200 years ago. Returning a fortnight later, he found that it had Roquefort cheese. This variety of cheese is still made in that manner.

LOTTERY CASE IS SET FOR HEARING

him had been issued in Los Angeles. But in absence of the warrant, now en route to Texas, the customs officials in San Antonio refused to take Luitgart into custody.

Send Warrant

A warrant also was on the way to El Paso, Texas, for the arrest of Frank W. Gowen, believed to be living there.

Thayer, reputedly originator of the lottery scheme, operating from the ring's base at Mexico City, is now understood to be residing in San Antonio.

Meanwhile federal authorities in Los Angeles stated that the sweepstakes lottery was actually of $3,000,000 proportions instead of the $1,000,000 originally reported. They claim about 200,000 tickets, at $1 each, had been sold before the operations were broken up, Santa Ana, they said, was the distributing center for the entire United States.

RIOTS MARK STRIKE AT NEW HAVEN PLANT

NEW HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Peace was restored to this industrial village today after a night of rioting at the New Haven foundry.

Two deputy sheriffs were injured and many union workers suffered minor hurts in a fight for control of the foundry. Officers, after four futile attempts to break through picket lines, called a truce. The foundry makes heavy castings for Chrysler, Hudson and other automobile manufacturers.

LEGION FAVORS 'ASYLUM' FOR RUM VICTIMS

Establishment of a separate institution for treatment of chronic alcoholic and psychopathic cases, away from insane hospitals and county jails, was urged in a resolution adopted last night by members of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion.

Preceded by a dinner, served by the Legion Auxiliary, the meeting was one of the best attended in many months. There were 90 Legionnaires at the dinner and 150 at the business session and entertainment that followed.

The resolution urging separation of the alcoholic and psychopathic cases was adopted because members of the Santa Ana post of the Legion feel that such patients are not criminals and could be rehabilitated as useful citizens, officers said.

The resolution in part, follows: Whereas, the State of California has no institution for the treatment of chronic alcoholic and psychopathic patients separate from insane hospitals and county jails; be it resolved that the director of the Department of Institutions of the State of California, and the state legislature be urged to establish a separate institution for the treatment. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the director of department of institutions and to the senator and assemblymen representing this district.

J. H. Walsh, district organizer for the Townsend movement in the 19th Congressional District, spoke to a large audience of Townsendites at the city hall in Newport Beach Thursday night. The beach Townsendites seem to be taking on some new life and the circulation of petitions has been practically completed, the people in the field having made a good coverage.

Walter P. Rogers, president of the Townsend club at San Clemente, writes into headquarters telling us that the Townsend club is rather dormant in his city at the present time but enclosed a one dollar bill and asks that it be credited to the district board that they may carry on their wonderful work.

The Twentieth Fund, The Townsend Crusade, is a book now in the Junior High that will interest many Townsendites. Students are writing essays from its contents in an effort to upset the Townsend theory. Watch the smoke

RECIPES

PORTO RICAN POT ROAST

2 pounds pot roast
1 pound fat salt pork
1 small bottle stuffed green olives
1 small piece suet
1 onion
1 can tomato sauce
2 cups hot water
Have the bone cut from the meat. Make small slits or holes with sharp knife on each side of roast. Stuff holes alternately with olives and inch strips of fat pork. Try out suet in pan that has a tight cover; add roast, and brown on all sides. Season to taste, add the onion, sliced. Mix tomato sauce and hot water; pour over meat. Cover and simmer for 2 or 3 hours. Serves 6 to 8.

BROWNED RICE

1 cup rice 3 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons oil 1 teaspoon salt
Wash rice in cold water until water runs through clear. Drain well and brown to golden color in hot oil; add boiling water and salt. Boil gently uncovered for 25 minutes or until rice is tender, occasionally lifting from bottom of kettle with fork. Serves 6.

PREPARATION AND COOKING OF POT ROAST BEEF

Meat used for Pot Roast must be cooked by moist heat as the usual cuts come from that portion of the animal which has the greatest muscular development. These naturally are tougher and therefore need to be cooked slowly and for a long time to make tender. This type of cooking is known as braising and is best done by using a heavy utensil with a tightly fitted lid. Brown the meat with fat or sear without fat on all sides in a hot utensil for 15 to 30 minutes. Add a small amount of liquid as needed, about 1/2 cup at a time. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until tender, allowing about 30 minutes per pound.

PROPOSED NEW JAYSEE TO BE MONDAY TOPIC

Discussion of the merit of sponsoring a new Junior College for Santa Ana will take place at a meeting called by George Wells, chairman of the city school board, for Monday noon at Santa Ana high school.

Spurred by the activity of Southern Orange county groups including the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, the Orange County Coast association, and an interested group in the Tustin area, for the establishment of a college in the Southern part of the county, the local citizens committee, consisting of George Dunton, Plummer Bruns, Alex Brownridge and A. N. Zerman, together with representatives of the local press and school officials, will discuss plans for a new college at the Monday meeting.

According to Wells, there will be no definite action taken at the meeting but a study of the facts and figures presented by members of the school committee will be given serious consideration. While there have been several sites for the new plant mentioned unofficially, there will be no discussion of this phase Monday, Wells indicated.

U.S. Employee Head To Be Here Sunday

Arnold S. Zander, national president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees will speak here at 6:30 p. m. Sunday under auspices of the Orange county unit of the organization. The meeting will be held in K. of P. hall.

Zander will talk on "Public Service for City and County Employees" stressing methods of improving public service through improving the position of employees. The public is invited to attend this meeting. Following Zander's talk there will be a question and answer period.

Charles M. Knowlton vice president of the national organization, will accompany Zander to this city for the meeting.

Dog Owner Gulps, Then Smiles At City Court Trial

N. Godinez, 106 Private street, arrested by Poundmaster Harold D. Pickering of Dec. 16 for failure to have a license for his dog, had a brief moment of nervousness yesterday when he appeared before Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court.

"No dog license? Fined $25," said Judge Mitchell and, as Godinez gulped in amazement, Mitchell added, "I'll suspend $24 dollars of the fine provided a dog license is procured at once."

Entry in court records today carried the story — "dog license procured."

One reckless driver, five speeders, and 19 illegal parkers appeared before Judge Mitchell yesterday and were fined. Epifanio C. Geck, 1227 West Second street, was fined $25 for reckless driving. The speeders were: Norwall E. Whitlam, 1131 South Parton St.; Lloyd Leslie Spies, Anaheim, $6; F. R. Hockstrasser, 1305 North Broadway, $6 and $2 failure to appear; Oscar Mann, Balboa Island, $8 and $2 failure to appear; and Donald Frederick Schneider, Anaheim, $10.

Illinois Group Plans 1938 Fete

Santa Ana and Orange county residents who formerly lived in Illinois, today were urged to attend the annual fall picnic of the Illinois Association Saturday, Jan. 22, in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

Lin Price, president of the group, said each of the 102 counties would establish their own headquarters and will open registers. A program of music and addresses will be presented. Hot coffee will be served.

NYA Band Plans Sunday Concert

Barring inclement weather, members of the N.Y.A. band, under direction of T. Dunston Collins, will present a concert at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in Birch park, the conductor announced this morning.

Including nine popular members, the event will open with a march, "Basses on a Rampage," and close with "Alexander's Ragtime Band," followed by another march, "The Viking."

'FIREFLY' IS TO SHOW TODAY

Foremost musical picture of the year, M.-G.-M.'s adaptation of 'The Firefly,' opened on Walker's screen today with Jeanette MacDonald, Allan Jones and Warren William.

It is screen artistry at its height. The dramatic story of Spain in the era when Napoleon was conquered at Vittoria by Wellington, provides a moving plot as vast and impressive as any that could be filmed.

It is Miss MacDonald's 17th musical triumph and undoubtedly her finest. She dances with rare grace and sings in her usual superb manner.

"A Girl With Ideas," featuring Wendy Barrie, is second offering, with Miss Barrie in the role of a smart society girl who wins a newspaper in a libel suit and chooses to run the paper her way. With a fine supporting cast, Miss Barrie proves herself a brilliant comedienne. The usual shorts are added.

FIRE DESTROYS RANCH GARAGE

Fires in the county late yesterday afternoon called out state fire trucks and city fire departments. The most serious of the fires was at the ranch of John Vincent Borchard at Greenville, damage being estimated at $2000 following the burning of a garage over which were living quarters for ranch help. The fire is thought to have originated from hot ashes dumped near the building.

Save Hay, Shops
Two fire trucks from Costa Mesa, two from Orange and the Santa Ana city fire department responded to the alarm. Firemen saved a barn holding 100 tons of hay, a blacksmith shop and an equipment shop.

At 4 p. m. the state department at Orange received a telephone call stating that the Stanton school was burning. The Orange state truck, the Midway City state truck and the Garden Grove fire department rushed to Stanton. It was found that an old vacant pool hall was burning, the mix-up having been occasioned by the fact that a teacher at the Stanton school had sent in the alarm. Damage was estimated at $10.

Fire Damages Trees
A trash fire yesterday at the R. S. Maurer place, Seventeenth and King streets, set eucalyptus trees afire; there was no damage. Santa Ana firemen said. A short in wiring of a car belonging to H. A. ## SECOND HUSBAND LEADS AS MATE NO. 1 IS FOUND ALIVE

Her British husband had been absent for several years and she believed him dead, so she remarried and moved across the sea to America. Mrs. Barbara H. Woodward stated in an answer to the suit for annulment filed today in superior court by her second husband, Donald A. Woodward.

The annulment suit was filed because, after they had lived here several years, the wife learned that her first husband, E. A. H. Woodward, still was alive in England. Woodward asked annulment on the ground that his wife had no legal right to wed him. Mrs. Woodward's answer accompanied the complaint, admitting the ground, and asking the court to do whatever was deemed fit. There was a stipulation that the case should be heard late today.

The Woodward married November 22, 1917, in the District of Thame, County of Kent, England. The following year they came to America and, since 1918, have been living at Cypress.

McGraw, former Fullerton automobile dealer, valued at $32,475.57; and the William B. Hartigan estate, valued at $9400, was filed in superior court today by Howard Irwin, state inheritance tax appraiser for northern Orange county.

The inventory of Benjamin Kraemer's estate included a $4500 interest in the estate of his millionaire brother, the late Samuel Kraemer. The largest items were $114,000 in real estate holdings, and $15,688.21 in a commercial bank account.

Chino Business
Men File $2,800 Suit Over Feed

Asserting that the purchasers of their green feed business in Chino have refused to make money payments provided under their agreement, Frank T. Cour and Nora C. Cour today brought suit in superior court for $2800 judgment against Forrest L. Almquist and Don B. Almquist.

The agreement, which concerns the Owl Green Feed company, of Chino, was executed August 28, 1937; it provided for lease of the business option to purchase at a price of $2800, the plaintiffs state. Prior to December 1, they claim, the defendants exercised the option and assumed ownership. They have been operating the business since then, it was said.

On January 8 the plaintiffs sought to collect moneys due under the agreement, but the defendants refused to make payment, they charged. Accordingly they sued for the full amount alleged to be due.

TROOPS GUARD HOTEL GROUNDS

AGUA CALIENTE, Lower Cal., Jan. 14.—(UP)—Soldiers were posted on the grounds of the Agua Caliente hotel property today to prevent further theft of the hotel storerooms.

The military guard, of five men, was augmented by a vigilance committee of 12 from the ranks of the 400 workers who seized the property Jan. 3 in protest against a federal expropriation order.

Meat and food supplies valued at more than $4000 were reported taken during the first week of the workers' occupancy according to E. S. Neidhart, hotel manager. Recently, it was alleged, a quantity of liquor was taken.

The workers continued to hold the padlocked gates against all but members of the military and members of the Cron unions.

Formal protest of the seizure of the $10,000,000 resort was made yesterday on behalf of the American-owned Agua Caliente company.

Conversion of the hotel buildings into an aviation and industrial school will begin within a week, Luis Chavez Orozco, under secretary of education, said today. An appropriation of 1,000,000 pesos has been allotted to provide work for the former resort employees, Orozco said.

JAPANESE REPLY

TOKYO, Jan. 14.—(UP)—The government is awaiting a secret note from China before releasing a statement of imperial policy on the Chinese war, it was asserted today in usually well informed quarters.

The situation as outlined by informants was that Japan had submitted peace terms to the Chinese government. It had expected a reply early this week. But, it was asserted, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, the Chinese national leader, asked for a few days to consider the Japanese demands in detail.

Explains Delay
This was said to be the reason for a mysterious delay in publishing a statement of policy drawn up as the result of a solemn imperial conference, fifth in modern Japanese history.

If Chiang rejected the Japanese terms unequivocally, informants said, Japan would proceed with resistance. But if Chiang either accepted or showed a willingness to discuss peace, it was added, Japan's course would prove a moderate one.

CHINESE PLAY IS GIVEN IN ENGLISH

"Lady Precious Stream," first Chinese play to be presented in English and translated by S. I. Hsiung, leading Chinese playwright and man of letters, will be given Tuesday, 8:15 p. m., at Bridges auditorium, Claremont, by a cast selected from both the New York and London productions. The story of the play, as Western as it is Eastern, is built around an old Chinese custom of the father selecting the husband for his daughter, around his daughter, "Lady Precious Stream" who, having a will of her own, refuses the paternal choice and set about getting her real love. Throughout the play, deft humor and satire are interwoven into the story which, to western audiences, becomes a sparkling comedy of manners and customs. The play is staged by Morris Gest, widely-known producer.

CHURCH TO BEGIN S. A. EVENT TODAY

Early days of the Foursquare church in Santa Ana will be recalled here Sunday evening when Dr. Anna D. Britton, former pastor of the church, fills her old pulpit.

Dr. Britton, now of Vancouver, B. C., has been attending the fifteenth annual convention of the Foursquare church at Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, and took advantage of the chance to renew friendship made while pastor in Santa Ana.

She will preach at the evening service at 7:30. A special musical program has been arranged for the occasion by Elisabeth Coe, who also will be in charge of music at the 11 a. m. service, when the Rev. Alice Anne Parham, present co-pastor of the church, will preach on "God's Cure for the Blues."

The Rev. Mrs. Parham today issued "a cordial invitation" to the public to attend these services in the church, which is located at Fairview and Sycamore streets.

Evangelist Herman Wallers, and wife, of Minneapolis, Minn., will conduct a service in the Foursquare church this evening at 7:30.

FAMED KIN OF S. A. MAN DIES

Word was received here yesterday of the death, in Montreal, Can., of Sir William Stanert, cousin of Albert McMurdo of Santa Ana. The internationally known financier and industrialist was a native of Prince Edward Island.

Known as a shrewd financial advisor he had been called upon by the governments of many countries to assist in fiscal investigations.

Until his retirement in 1912, he was superintendent of the maritime branches of the Nova Scotia bank. Following his retirement from banking he represented English capitalists in Canadian newspaper enterprises until 1914 when he returned to England to be appointed director of finance in the ministry of information and accounting officer to His Majesty's treasury.

Returning to Canada he was appointed to the Royal Commission of Investigation and probed the wages of the Dominion Coal company in 1921 and the finances of Newfoundland in 1932. Later he made a report on European business conditions for the Guarantee Trust company of New York.

Sir William also had served as a member of the Quebec Liquor Commission which he helped to organize as Director of Finance. He appeared before the United States senate committee investigating the prohibition problem in 1926.

Benjamin Franklin's portrait in the White House originally was carried away from Franklin's home by Major Andre, who gave it to General Grey. Grey took it to England and Earl Grey, a descendant, presented it to President Theodore Roosevelt.

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here—

HOLLYWOOD—ALMOST ANYTHING for a laugh, and absolutely anything to kick up a fuss and attract attention. That's the motto of the boys in this town.

During one of those "Hello, everybody" broadcasts tonight at the Ritz Brothers, the boys seem to be the standing motto with some of the boys in this town. Wish you were here! "Hello, everybody" broadcasts tonight at the Ritz Brothers, the boys seem to be the standing motto with some of the boys in this town. Wish you were here!

Although we claim to be no authority on the subject, there should be at least a dozen more conspicuous ways to go to the movies. But at this writing Andy hasn't been able to think of any. So the blimp will have to do.

The Ritz Brothers had planned to tear down Wilshire boulevard in a horse-drawn fire wagon to the box office in an effort to outdo the sky-sailing Andy. However, after thinking it over, the boys have decided to be a little more conservative and go to the opening like anyone else.

Methinks I smell here a smouldering flicker of showmanship I didn't believe the brothers Ritz possessed. For after all, who would notice the boys when they had a chance to see an honest-to-goodness old fashioned fire wagon drawn by prancing horses?

Incidentally, Mutual will carry the opening coast to coast with the up-in-the-air Andy reporting his progress over a short wave transmitter.

Jack Haley and George Fischer will be stationed at microphones in the lobby to make the necessary introductions and comments. Don Ameche will also play a hand here.

Oh, yes, the picture is "In Old Chicago." (KJH, 8:30)

Evolution . . . of swing

When it comes to sweet swing, I'll take Tommy Dorsey's outfit along with any of them. And I know there are a lot in our little brood who feel the same way about Tommy's dance rhythms.

When his melodic trombone strains of "Gettin' Sentimental Over You" usher in his half-hour commercial on the air, Dorsey and the boys will devote the program to explaining and illustrating the evolution of swing.

The musical curtain rises on a little street band in Memphis in 1911. According to Dorsey, "Memphis Blues" as played by W. C. Handy and his boys twenty-seven years ago, first gave us swing as we know it today.

Check this off as a "must." (KFI, 6:30)

Quote . . . of the week

Tommy Tucker, whose dance rhythms are heard as a background to George Jessel's Sunday afternoon half-hour:

"It's hard to realize, until you come in contact with them, how 'band minded' high school and college students are the country over. You can't fool the kids about bands. It's surprising how many of them know the complete instrumentation of their favorite orchestras, and just let one man drop out or another come in, they immediately recognize the change and remark about it."

Program Parade . . . notes

Dick Powell, Rosemary Lane and Hugh Herbert will appear in scenes from the movie "Hollywood Hotel," during "Hollywood Hotel." Don't let us confuse you. (KNX, 6)

Soprano Virginia Rea takes over Kitty Carlisle's spot on "The Song Shop." This is a one-time spot only for Miss Rea. (KNX, 7)

Did you hear Miss Carlisle's pronunciation of "theater" during her farewell speech last Friday? My, my, could she have been reading the script through a lorgnette?

The ten best non-fiction books of 1937, as chosen by Current History, will be announced during a half-hour broadcast from New York.

A group of distinguished authors, headed by Carl Carmer, will join in a roundtable discussion of "Could each or any of these books be written under any other form of government than a democracy?" (KECA, 7:30)

Nick Harris and his players turn back the pages of Los Angeles police records to the first important case Chief of Police Davis was

REFEREE HERO OF MAT SHOW: 'DRAGON' WINS

By PAUL VISSMAN

With a New Deal in refereeing the Orange County Athletic club made the wrestling customers "happy over the whole thing" last night.

"Tiger" McGee was the third man in the ring and treated the fans to something they had never seen before—a referee who really can handle the grapplers and is the boss in every match.

In the first match McGee disqualified "Speed" LaRance for fouling. In the second he ruled that if a wrestler stepped (deliberately) from the ring twice in succession on the count would be five instead of twenty. Jimmy Goodrich, one of the "rasslers," said, "you can't do that" and the answer, so all could hear, was, "Oh, yeah? Well I'm gonna do it."

In the main event the masked Back Dragon kicked and gouged his way to a win over Marshall Carter, despite the vigilance of Referee McGee. Carter took the first fall in 34 seconds after the Dragon had slammed him to the floor while the grapplers were receiving the referee's instructions before the bell rang.

Carter examined the Dragon for excessive grease and accorded the same privilege to the Dragon. Suddenly the masked nightmare grabbed Carter's feet, threw him to the floor and applied a Boston Crab before the referee could stop him.

When the bell rang Carter came from his corner like a whirlwind and floored the Dragon with a body slam after a series of flying tackles. The Dragon took the second fall in 7:38 minutes with a body slam after Carter missed another flying tackle. The third and deciding fall went to the Dragon in 6:14 with a Boston

Crab. Steve Strelch, exponent of the scissors hold, lost to "Wild Red" Berry in straight falls. In spite of help given by the "Little Old Man," Berry took the first fall in 20:33 with a double arm stretch. He won the second fall in 54 seconds with another arm stretch.

Incidentally Referee McGee did not know that the Little Old Man is an institution at the O. C. A. C. and ordered him to his seat several times when he attempted to help his favorite grapplers.

Roman Romano, a clever lad from Mexico, according to the announcer, defeated Jimmy Goodrich after 21:26 of slugging and rough housing.

The opener went to "Popeye" O'Brien in 13:52 when the referee disqualified Speed LaRance for repeated fouling.

THE RIGHT FORMULA

In the 13 years Everett Dean has been basketball coach at Indiana, the Hoosiers have finished out of the first division in the Big Ten only three times.

INDIANS MAKE BID FOR THIRD BASKET CROWN

KFAC (1300) will broadcast tonight's California-U. C. L. A. basketball game, and also will give returns from the Stanford-S. C. game. The description begins at 8.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY—Victories in six of seven early season games, John Bunn's Stanford basketball team, Pacific coast champions in 1936 and 1937, open the defense of their Southern division title against Southern California here in contests tonight and Saturday night.

The Indians have beaten the Olympic club, San Jose State, Arizona, City College of New York, Long Island university and Duquesne, and lost to Temple by a score of 31-35. In 7 games, the Redskins scored 366 points to 256 for their opponents—an offensive average of 52 points and a defensive average of 36 per game.

The Trojans, who are rated the team to beat in the Southern division, have played 12 games, winning 10 and losing close decisions to Purdue and Indiana by scores of 43-49 and 39-42, respectively. Southern California won two games each from New Mexico State, Tulane, Louisiana State and Rice, and one each from M.G.M. and U.C.L.A. The S.C. quintet has scored 589 points to 416 for their opponents—an offensive average of 49 and a defensive average of 35 per game.

The Stanford scoring machine is again led by the brilliant Hank Luisetti, who has tanked 1131 points in his first three years and is away to a great start in his final season. Luisetti has counted 134 in seven contests—an average of 19. In Stanford's 92-27 victory over Duquesne, the Cardinal captain broke all existing records by dropping in 23 field goals and 4 free throws for a total of 50 points.

Teaming with Luisetti are a pair of other veterans of the two championship teams—Art Stofen at center and Jack Calderwood at guard. Stofen is playing the best basketball of his career, having scored 93 points in seven games for an average of more than 13. At the other guard position will be H. B. Lee, "midget" of the squad, who stands 5:10. Opposite Luisetti, at the other forward spot, will be Phil Zonne.

Very much in the picture is Leon Lafaille, star forward of the 1937 freshman quintet. The Oakland flash is coming along nicely and can be shovelled into the game at any time.

Coach Sam Barry of S. C. brought a team of 11 players north for the two-game series. U. S. C. leads the division at present, having beaten U. C. L. A. last week in the opening game of the season's play.

The Trojans' chief problem will be stopping the high-scoring Luisetti. Hal Dornis, a six-foot two-inch veteran, has drawn the assignment of holding Luisetti.

While the Cardinals and the Trojans are battling here, California and U. C. L. A. play in Los Angeles.

STABLE DOG BLAMED FOR FOUL IN RACE

ARCADIA — (UP) — A stable hound that dashed out on the track, barking at the top of its lungs, yesterday disqualified Lithorome, the winner, in the Beverly Hills feature at the Santa Anita race track.

Lithorome was disqualified and placed third, with the award going to Keene Jack. Supremador was moved up to second. Jockey Maurice Peters, riding Supremador, lodged the foul claim.

When the dog dashed out on the track on the home stretch of the six-furlong sprint, Supremador was between Keene Jack, on the rail, and Lithorome. Lithorome turned in and Supremador, sandwiched between the two horses, was forced back to avoid injury.

GOLF ARMY FLOCKS TO CROSBY TOURNEY

DEL MAR — (UP) — Golfers arrived by the dozens today to compete in the $3000 pro-amateur and open tournament sponsored annually at Rancho Santa Fe course by the Film Crooner Bing Crosby.

A host of the nation's professionals, most of whom played in the recent Los Angeles Open, led the parade. Dozens of amateurs—so many that the limit of players twice has been boosted—followed, with promise of almost 275 contenders when play gets under way tomorrow morning.

The professionals are headed by Jimmy Thomson, winner of the Los Angeles Open, who will team with Jim McHale of San Gabriel; Harry Cooper, top money winner of the past year, paired with Bruce McCormick, National Public Links champion; Leo Diegel, playing with Dick Arlen, and Sam Snead, playing with Doug Mackinnon.

The amateur list is comprised of sport writers, actors, ex-football players, writers, tennis players and others.

'MYTHICAL FOUL' OF VENTURI IS PROBED

NEW YORK — (UP) — An investigation into the circumstances surrounding the knockout of Enrico Venturi, Italian lightweight, by Henry Armstrong at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night, was planned today by the New York boxing commission.

Venturi, who went down and was counted out from what many termed a "mythical" low blow in the sixth round, already is under 30 days suspension for failing to scale the required 137 pounds.

His manager, Carmine Tarantino, and his two seconds have been ordered to appear at next Tuesday's commission meeting. The commissioners, it was said, are determined to ascertain whether Venturi was obeying orders when he remained down and was counted out after being struck low.

Armstrong, meanwhile, left for Los Angeles last night with his manager, Eddie Meade. He will fight Al Cincin in San Francisco Jan. 26 and "Chalky" White in Los Angeles Feb. 1.

SAN LUIS REY GOES TO POST AGAIN SUN.

AGUA CALIENTE — (UP) — San Luis Rey, one-eyed winner of two 1000 purses since the Agua Caliente Turb club opened its Sunday-only meetings Jan. 2, will try to make it three-in-a-row this weekend.

The Cox and Ketcham star, however, will have serious competition in the $1000-added Teate Handicap, for 3-year-olds and up, at one mile and 70 yards, in Sir Ridgeway, a stablemate, who placed second to Sally's Booter in the $5000 Del Mar Handicap last July. It will be the 1938 debut for Sir Ridgeway.

Previous victories of San Luis Rey were at sprint distances. Others nominated for the Teate are Skeetshooter, Royal Rover, Au Man, Wise Ace, San Ramon, Pass Up and Jockwell.

STATEMENT

We, the undersigned present to the public of Orange County the following DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES to which we are committed.

We are united for the purpose of establishing and maintaining industrial stability in Orange County and will fearlessly and vigorously use the organized strength of this community:

To uphold the firm and impartial enforcement of law by the local government which the people of this community have created to preserve peace and order and to administer and enforce justice.

To defend every person's right to work, or refuse to work, free from fear of coercion, violence, tribute, tyranny, unlawful hindrance or boycotts such as has been openly discussed in union meetings against the Excelsior Creamery Company.

To protect the right of all employees to bargain with their employers singly or in groups, as they may elect, through representatives of their own unhampered selection.

To protect and defend every employer in the lawful possession and use of his property, on his own premises or on public thoroughfares.

For the accomplishment of these ends we propose:

TO SERVE THE PUBLIC: by doing everything in our power to maintain prosperous conditions in Orange County; by establishing such relationships of justice and confidence between the employer and the employee as will permit the free flow of goods and services uninterrupted by lockouts, strikes or boycotts.

TO ASSIST THE EMPLOYEE: by obtaining better working conditions with respect to wages, hours and security of employment; by maintaining the OPEN SHOP so that he may, according to his individual and independent choice, join a labor union or refuse to join a labor union; by making it possible for the employee to protect himself against intimidation, violence or coercion because of his decision; by encouraging the highest possible wage scales and reasonable and equitable maximum hours of labor.

TO ASSIST THE EMPLOYER: by protecting him in the operation of his business free from the unlawful interference which may result from his refusal to accept dictation, including CLOSED SHOP conditions.

Orange County citizens should be reminded that if the transportation and delivery of essential food supplies falls into the hands of dictator's that their health, physical and financial well being are jeopardized.

AIR TRANSPORT ENDING RECORD MILEAGE YEAR

WASHINGTON. — (UP) — Late statistics of the bureau of air commerce indicate that during 1937 airlines in the United States will set up a new all-time record for miles flown and at the same time establish a new record of safety.

Most recent figures point toward a total mileage of more than 75,000,000 compared with 73,303,836 last year, and the number of miles flown per person killed may exceed 1,600,000 compared with 1,332,433 last year.

Figures compiled early this month showed that 47 persons, including pilots, have been killed in five accidents on scheduled airline routes this year. Ten fatal accidents took 55 lives last year. The bureau's statistics for this year do not include the Pan-American Grace crash near Cristobal, Panama, Aug. 2, in which 14 died, or the destruction of the dirigible Hindenburg.

Radio Facilities Improved
In keeping with the expanded activities of the airline companies, the bureau has launched a three-year construction program contemplating the expenditure of $7,000,000 for improving radio and airport facilities.

Approximately $3,000,000 of the funds made available by congress will be used in modernizing existing radio equipment and installing new radio broadcasting stations for transmitting weather and flight information.

Another allotment will go toward improving lighting conditions on the nation's 21,782 miles of charted airways, and other funds will go toward adding 1,500 miles of teletype communications circuits to the 13,885 miles which now transmit weather bulletins to ground stations throughout the country.

The program is being administered under the direction of Fred D. Flagg, jr., who succeeded Eugene L. Vidal as head of the bureau after Vidal resigned last April. Dennis Mulligan is assistant director, succeeding R. W. Schroeder, who resigned July 1.

Transport Planes First
On Nov. 1 the bureau promulgated the first comprehensive "traffic regulations" for the country's airways. Designed to provide maximum safety from collision for scheduled airlines, the regulations virtually turn over the air lanes to regular transports during the most dangerous weather conditions. Only those private planes which are equipped for instrument flying are permitted to operate.

In addition scheduled air routes are rated according to their importance and given a color—green for first, amber for second and red for third. Similar to automobile traffic custom, planes on the green routes have preference at airline terminals over both amber and red. Amber has precedence over red.

Airport Parley Called
On Dec. 6 the bureau opened a conference of local, state and federal officials and representatives of airplane manufacturers and operators in an effort to work out a solution to a national airport problem which Fagg describes as "chaotic."

A new type air transport plane to be put in service next spring or summer will be so large that runways on many of the nation's principal air terminals may be inadequate to permit the new planes to land and take off. Thus the cities, many of them already financially pressed because of increased relief loads and burdened with debt following the depression, are faced with the possibility of having their air service severely curtailed unless they expend large sums for airport enlargement.

Negotiations were still in progress after the conference.

Ordinarily, one can see up to a dozen meteors on a clear night, but on the night of October 9, 1933, the earth passed through a swarm of these small particles, each of which became white hot due to friction caused by the earth's atmosphere.

Coast Club

The Coast Philatelic club meets in the Birds Cafe, January 14th. This club with 48 members is making good records in Philatelic circles. All members are advanced collectors and enjoy these fine dinner meetings.

Orange County Club

The annual dinner of the Orange County Philatelic club was held in the Rosemore cafe the evening of January 6th. A fine turkey dinner was had and the 1938 officers installed. Dr. A. P. Koentopp is the new president. C. W. Clarke, vice president; Willis S. Van Buren, treasurer; Fred C. Mudgett, secretary and Vic Morrison, members of the club. The next meeting is January 21st at the Weber Bakery club rooms, 2615 North Main street, Santa Ana. Mr. W. E. Sullivan and Fred Mudgett are on the entertainment committee.

How Many?

During the last Orange County club meeting the question came up as to the number of stamp collectors in Orange County. What is your idea? Drop a card to the writer, with the number you think collect stamps. The members of the two senior stamp clubs runs around 150 each year but some collectors claim Orange county has 1800 to 2000 stamp collectors. We know this that 30,000 to 50,000 new issues of commemorative stamps disappear from the local post office stamp window very soon after arriving not to say how many are sold at Garden Grove, Tustin, Placentia, Anaheim, Laguna, Balboa, Newport and other county post offices.

The Kangaroo

This remarkable animal from far-away Australia belongs to an interesting family known as the marsupials. "Marsupium" is the Latin word for pouch; and it is the strange, fur-lined pouch in which these animals carry their young that have given them their family name.

A full-grown kangaroo like the one shown on this 1d postage stamp may stand as high as eight feet from the ground, yet at the time of its birth it was only a tiny creature scarcely an inch long! As soon as they are born, the baby kangaroos crawl into the comfortable, fur-lined pouch of the mother and proceed to attach themselves to what Mr. Micawber referred to as "the maternal fountains."

Auctions

John Walter Scott conducted the first stamp auction in the world in Clinton Hall, New York City. The auctions sales totaled $444.04.

Today auctions run up into five figures and in many cases one single stamp brings in cash an amount of four figures. The recent sale of the two-cent 1902 invert issue for $3800.00 proves this.

40th Anniversary of the Chinese Postal Service

A series of four stamps was issued on October 10th in commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the Chinese Postal Service. The 2c orange pictures the various kinds of postal communication that are used in China today. A modern liner appears at the left; at the right is a Chinese junk and a railroad train; and in the center vignette an airplane is seen flying over a camel caravan in the mountains of Manchuria.

The 5c green shows the harbor of Shanghai with a mail truck on the pier near a liner. The foreign battle cruiser in the background reminds us that Shanghai is one of the trouble centers of the Far East. The 25c deep blue pictures the imposing facade of the Shanghai General Post Office; and the last stamp in the series, the 10c carmine red, illustrates the Ministry of Communications in Nanjing.

The first stamps of the Imperial Chinese government appeared in 1897 during the eventful reign of the famous dowager empress, Tzu Hsi. It is interesting to note today that authorities are of the opinion that the present Chinese government under the Christian premier Chang Kai-Shek is by far the strongest that China has had since the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty in 1912.

NAMES?

Last meeting of the Orange County Club Dr. A. P. Koentopp read off some common terms used by a stamp collector. Do you know their meaning?

"Cover." This is not a sheet or blank as some folks would think but refers to first flight envelopes, first days of issue and first crossings of oceans with mail. First Flight Cover example is the Graf Zepp flight. First Day Issue is like the Hawaiian cancellation of the new Possession Series at Honolulu on October 18th 1937.

"Mint" refers to the stamp that has never been used or cancelled. "Unhinged" refers to the mint stamp that has never been hinged or had a hinge attached to it and placed in an album.

Superb, fine, fair and off center are terms applied to the condition of centering of a stamp. The equal border all around is superb and a stamp cut into by the perforations is considered very poor and a poor thing to have around.

"Margin block" does not refer to stock market buying but is a block of four stamps from the top, side or bottom of a sheet of stamps.

"Sheets" are stamps printed from a plate. They vary in size. In most cases they are cut into two or more sections and are issued from post offices. These sections are called panes.

"Arrows." This is a V shape mark on the sheet margin usually at ends of guide lines between panes and stamps and placed there to aid in registering.

Buying for Resale

Where bi-colored stamps are considered the situation is still different. In these stamps there are two plate numbers to consider, usually placed over or under adjoining stamps, but not always so. Furthermore there is frequently the word TOP on the upper margin, near one of the plate numbers. The problem is to take a block large enough to include all these markings and still not include any unnecessary stamps. The George Rogers Clark commemorative stamp of 1929 required a plate block of six stamps. The Red Cross commemorative of 1931 required blocks of either four, eight or ten stamps depending on how much the collector wished to include. The safest general rule is to make your block large enough to retain all that portion of the sheet margin that bears essential sheet markings such as plate numbers, and not to include any additional stamps. If there is any uncertainty on this point with a certain stamp the buyer can easily consult one of the many authorities on United States stamps that write for the philatelic journals.

United States booklet panes are another possible type of investment that bring fairly good returns. A study of the catalog will show that they have advanced quite rapidly in value, but the market for them is still rather limited as few collectors save them or know anything about them. If collected for resale they should be kept in limited quantities. There are a number of scarce positions to be found in all booklet panes and a study of the position chart of these varieties (published by Stanley Gibbons of New York) will repay anyone who considers them. It is an odd fact with booklet panes that in order to determine the rare varieties they must usually be badly off-center, as otherwise the lines and other markings do not show. This is one drawback in collecting them.

Stamped envelopes are not so very popular now, although some few collectors are fond of them. Their bulk works to their disadvantage, and most collectors let them alone for that reason. If bought at all they should be in sets, including all the values above

3c, as it is the upper values that are seldom seen, and quite the best. There were some years ago the re-valued envelopes, those that had a new value surcharged their face, many of which turned out to be very valuable, but even so they move rather slowly in the market.

United States air-mail stamps are of course good buys, especially if there is reason to believe they will be short-lived. If the Graf Zeppelin stamps of 1930 were not of such high face value they would be almost priceless today, as only some 61,000 complete sets exist. Even so they are now worth ten times face value, a very fair rise in value. There is always an unusual interest centered in air stamps, just as in commemoratives, and the same rules for buying apply to both: blocks and plate numbers, as well as position blocks if they exist.

There is another angle to buying United States stamps, and that is to buy in quantity, select the best ones, and sell the rest of them at face value or a trifle more just to get your money back on those you do not care to keep. For instance: if you have any person or business office that uses a great deal of postage, and that will buy your extra unused stamps you can buy in complete sheets, pick out the superb blocks and the plate blocks, the positions if any, and then turn over the rest to your buyers at face value or even at a slight discount from face if it is worth it to you. This is frequently done. Especially where imperforates are issued, where you particularly want the position blocks and yet have to buy complete sheets in order to get them, is this an excellent procedure. You then buy the sheets, remove your pet items and then sell the rest for postage. The success of this method depends on one thing: your ability to establish buyers for your extra stamps.

Any question dealing with stamps will be gladly answered by C. W. Clarke, 1322 North Garvey street, Santa Ana, if accompanied by a stamped self-addressed envelope.

LIVE SHELL EXTRACTED

MADRID — (UP) — A "live" 2-inch Mauser shell has been successfully removed from the shoulder of Blas Mora, a private soldier in the Spanish Government Army. The shell embedded itself, without exploding, in the man's left shoulder, and as it was liable to explode at any moment, great care had to be taken in removing the wounded soldier to a first-aid station and then to a base hospital.

A 364-foot redwood, in Humboldt county, Calif., is the tallest known tree in the world.

EX-SLAVE. 101. RECALLS DASH INTO CANADA

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP) — "Uncle Billy" Anderson, ex-slave born on a plantation near here on Christmas Day, 1836, is on the job daily at his barber shop here.

The Negro centenarian has been working since he was 5, when he served as his mistress' personal body servant. His job was to "rub her head and light her pipe three times a day."

Although "Uncle Billy" says his "apprehension ain't so good as it used to be," he can recall having served in his barber shop such distinguished Kentuckians as James Lane Allen, John Cabell Breckinridge and William C. P. Brockinridge.

When Billy was 16, his owner died and he was sold on the auction block. One day after he "changed hands" he slipped away to Lexington to attend the funeral of Henry Clay. Upon his return he was whipped.

Resentful, Billy ran away. A friendly itinerant peddler helped him to escape, but the service cost the boy his entire savings—$20. Finally he arrived in Cleveland and then crossed into Toronto, Canada, where he learned his trade. He returned to Ohio in 1862, and met some friendly Union soldiers, who took him to Gen. W. T. Sherman.

The general liked the Negro and made him his personal servant. Billy served Sherman until the close of the Civil War, when he returned to Lexington and opened his shop. He's been at the same location for 64 years.

SEEK STOP SIGNS AT SCHOOL CORNER

OCEANVIEW, Jan. 14.—A petition asking the state division of highways to establish four-way stop signs at the intersection of Huntington Beach and Wintersburg boulevards is being signed by local residents.

Traffic signs and a traffic man have failed to reduce the speed of motorists at the intersection, making the corner a death trap for pedestrians, it is claimed. The intersection is in the Oceanview school zone.

The petition is at the Earl Farar store and has 50 names at the present time.

Jimmie Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, January 14.—I am a red-hot Don Ameche fan. I mean the Ameche who gives those brilliant performances on the radio every Sunday afternoon, not the Ameche who is being kept in pretty-boy roles by Twentieth Century-Fox.

Did you hear that masterly bit with Anna Neagle in one of his programs several weeks ago—the one in which he played the aged Henry VIII? And did you know that it was Don who turned in, on the same program, the best piece of dialect comedy that has been offered via the air in many a moon? Versatile? Say, this Don Ameche of the airways can hold his own with Muni...or Tracy...or any actor that ever came down the proverbial hill. He could have done that comedy skit in any dialect that you would care to name. Other actors, having heard his seemingly endless collection of dialect stories, say that no one else can touch him. And Ameche, as an actor, playing a new role each week, brings to each one a subtle sincerity that is the sure proof of greatness.

I wonder if Mr. Darryl Zanuck has a radio? If he has, he really should tune in on Don's program some Sunday instead of playing polo—and discover that he has, safely under contract to his studio, one of the three or four really really great actors in screen history. Having made that discovery, I believe that Mr. Zanuck, as a very smart producer, would promptly wake up, send for all of his writers and say: "Gentlemen, we have a gold mine and we're not working it. Give me stories for Don Ameche—and for Pete's sake let's forget we ever thought him handsome."

PLACENTIA SCHOOL GROUP SETS
PACE FOR SAFETY ON BICYCLES

In this modern day of vehicular transportation when bicycles—and their riders—frequently must struggle for existence, literally, in fast-moving traffic, students of Bradford avenue school of the Placentia unified school district are following a fine group of safety rules.

That was the opinion today of George Peterkin, California highway patrol officer in charge of school transportation in the county.

Slow Up, Look!

Not only have the students established 15 safety rules for bicycle operation and agreed to memorize them but they have established a second set of rules, 10 in number governing safety in school, on school grounds and in going between school and home.

"Every school group would do well to establish such rules," Peterkin said. The bicycle rules: 1. Always will slow up and look both ways before crossing the street; be careful when I go out of a driveway, to look both ways; never dart from behind an automobile or other object hiding me from sight; ride with the traffic; ride near the edge of the roadway; never ride on the sidewalks; stay off main arteries when possible; not zig-zag across streets; not "act smart" while riding; not hang on back of cars; not ride at night without proper lights; will never carry another on my bicycle; will signal when turning or stopping; will keep my bicycle in good condition, and will not ride my bicycle across the school playground.

Good Behavior

The other rules set forth: I will remember to walk and talk quietly when in halls; keep to the right; leave school grounds promptly after being dismissed; keep bicycles, scooters, off school grounds; never throw rocks, sticks, etc.; leave knives, sling-shots, cap pistols, etc., at home; walk on sidewalks where possible; use school apparatus correctly; report anything unsafe at school, and look both ways before crossing streets.

URGES TESTS IN BUSINESS

Declaring "there ought to be a law," L. W. Grieve, Los Angeles business engineer, yesterday told members of the Santa Ana Lions club in regular session at the Masonic Temple that "until there is legislation that requires prospective business men to pass a rigid examination for fitness in entering business, we will continue to have 25 per cent of the retail businesses in the country fail every year."

"The legal profession has made it necessary to pass an examination, the medical profession has a similar test, other professions have made it necessary for applicants to show fitness—why then should we permit business to open when the merchant has not the capacity to conduct his business?" Grieve asked.

In outlining the requirements of the test for the business man, Grieve gave four general subjects that he declared were vital in the operation of a business: merchandising, bookkeeping, salesmanship, and advertising.

Ernest Gould was program chairman for the day and introduced the speaker. Frank Harwood presided at the meeting.

The youths, Danny DeSoto, 19, 212 Delhi road, and Howard Stoughton, 20, 833 Riverine street, were arrested after G. W. Easterly, 1024 North Sycamore, seeing DeSoto leaving the doctor's place by a rear fence, gave chase and, with assistance of Officers C. V. Adams and Roy Hartley, captured him. DeSoto named Stoughton as his companion. Information against the youths is scheduled to be filed today in superior court. They were held under $3,000 bail each.

ELKS DRIVE MAKES GOURMAND'S HOLIDAY ONE HUGE INCENTIVE!

Members of the Santa Ana lodge of Elks have entered the final stage of their membership drive which will culminate with a dinner to be served some time during the month of January.

FUND TO HELP RADIUM WORK

BERKELEY, Cal. —(UP)—As the result of the grant of $30,000 by the National Advisory Cancer Council of Washington to the University of California, great progress will be made in the treatment of cancer by radium and radio-active substances, it is believed here.

The money will be spent entirely in the laboratory of Dr. E. O. Lawrence, professor of physics and head of the university's radiation laboratory.

The grant came as the result of Lawrence's cyclotron in the development of synthetic radium and radio-active substances.

In this cyclotron various substances are bombarded with electrical rays until their atoms are broken down and they form new substances. One of the latest of these experiments was the formation of synthetic radium.

Laboratory To Be Enlarged

With the $30,000 grant, a new and much larger laboratory will be built and a much larger cyclotron to be known as a "medical cyclotron" will be installed for the production of purely radio-active substances for medical use, and specially for the treatment of cancer.

To date, the old cyclotron has produced more than 200 radio-active substances, such as radio-sodium, radio-phosphorus and radio-iron.

The present limited laboratory has produced these substances equal in radio activity to one gram of radium. These amounts have been found adequate and at present can be produced at a cost comparable with that of radium.

However, as the cyclotron is only in the early stages of its technical development, Dr. Lawrence is convinced that its efficiency can be improved and that it can be made to produce the equivalent of 10 grams or more of radium.

Great Expansion Seen

This would permit the most extensive use of radium and open up vast fields of experimentation with it in various diseases. It was for this purpose that the $30,000 grant was made.

One of the most important features of the newly created radio-

To spur lodge members to greater activities H. R. Brinkerhoff, chairman of the dinner committee, today released for first publication the menu for the dinner.

Progress To Turtle!

The dinner will start with caviar (you know, the stuff that looks like sunburned tapioca and tastes swell—if you like it) and the next step is Olympia oyster cocktail with bread sticks. From there, guests will progress to green turtle soup to be followed by hors-d'oeuvres.

Next on the list will come sweetbreads, encrusted, with sauce and pate-de-foie-gras (goose liver to you) and boneless stuffed squab, to be accompanied by broccoli and cheese sauce and soufflé potatoes. For dessert there will be plum pudding and brandy sauce, followed by cheese, coffee and cigars.

Of course, according to Brinkerhoff, there will be potables of a vintage appropriate to the occasion.

Sufficient Guarantee!

The dinner will be prepared by W. K. Duffy, chef at the Elks club, and that is taken as sufficient guarantee of the gustatory delights to be offered the diners. Following the dinner a show will be presented under direction of Jack Miller.

There are no tickets for sale for this banquet. The only way an Elk can get his feet under the groaning banquet board is by securing one new member for the lodge. The member may be obtained by transfer, demit, initiation or reinstatement but the rule is firm—no member, no dinner.

The cotton crop is annual in the United States, while in all tropical countries producing cotton, it is a perennial.

active substances by the cyclotron is that they are not toxic. They can be taken into the digestive tract or administered intravenously without harmful consequences.

These substances also permit a close observation of their action on the blood and the body of the patient by the "tagging of atomic content through radio-active properties."

The medical experiments made to date with the neutron ray of the cyclotron give the utmost promise for its successful use in the treatment of cancer. The ray has been shown to be much more lethal on cancerous tissue and less harmful to healthy tissue than X-ray.

The new medical cyclotron to be built with part of the $30,000 grant will be four times the size of the present one.

ALTRUSA CLUB SETS PLANS FOR CHARTER NIGHT

Plans for the early spring date at which Santa Ana Altrusa club will be granted its charter by the national Altrusa president, Mrs. Harriette Quisenberry of El Paso, Texas, were of chief importance last night when Altrusans dined at Danagers in advance of a business meeting conducted by Miss Dewey Neumeyer, president.

Miss Neumeyer announced that Mrs. Quisenberry was expected on the coast sometime in February or March for the district convocation to be held in San Diego, and that it might be wise to set a date for charter night, to coincide with her trip to the coast.

Favor City Event

It had been suggested that the charter might be granted at San Diego, but the club opinion was in favor of having this important meeting kept in Santa Ana and making the occasion a guest night.

Present last night with Miss Neumeyer and the junior past president, Cora Prather, were half a dozen new members, Dr. Feryl Magill, Julia Anne Hyde, Frances Brown, Mabel Faulkner, Frances Liles and Betty Rohrs, together with Mary Howard, Irene McPaul, Laura Warren, Mary Andrews and Eleanor Elliott.

DESERTION CHARGED

Desertion was charged today in a superior court suit for divorce filed by Harold I. Fladung against Mrs. Edna May Fladung. The couple married in Tia Juana July 15, 1933, and separated September 28, 1936.

Recent Bride Honored
When Co-Hostesses
Entertain

When Miss Roberta McKnight and Miss Billie Johnson entertained last night in compliment to a recent bride, Mrs. Howard Richards (Lois Mae Stockton) they had assistance of their mothers, Mrs. R. W. McKnight and Mrs. J. H. Johnson.

The McKnight home at 1414 Bush street was scene of the pleasant hospitality. Polished and clusters of red-berried shrubbery formed a cheery background for an evening of bridge.

Prizes rewarded Miss Jo Flaherty, who scored high in contract; and Miss Maryann Newcomer, who held high honors in auction.

The gayly-wrapped packages presented to Mrs. Richards contained pottery to fill out a set which she had started. Serving of salad, hot rolls and coffee brought the post nuptial event to a close.

Sharing the party with the hostess and her mother and sister, Mrs. C. B. Stockton and Miss Catherine Stockton, with Mesdames Wesley Hauck, R. W. McKnight, J. H. Johnson and the Misses Jean King, Maryann Newcomer, Jean McBurney, Betty Bradley, Catherine Warne, Jo Flaherty, Catherine Eklund, Betty Booser, all of this vicinity; Miss Aline Fowler, Huntington Park, and the two hostesses.

Breakfast and Shower
Come in Compliment
To Recent Bride

Cheerful red and white kitchen accessories for Mr. and Mrs. Lester H. Schmelzer's honeymoon home at 1077 Freeman street were presented to the bride Wednesday morning when she was honored at a breakfast in the home of Helen Stewart, 310 McFadden street.

Mrs. Schmelzer (Edna Haackendorf) formerly was employed in the tax collector's office, and several of her friends who have been her co-workers for the past few years were assembled for the event.

Since this is the time of the year when they do not report for duty at the office, members of the party were free to remain at the Stewart home for the entire day.

Flowers in red and white were used in decorations for the affair. Presentation of the gayly-wrapped kitchen gifts to Mrs. Schmelzer came as a pleasant feature of the day.

Sharing the party with the hostess and Mrs. Schmelzer were Fern Boomer, Hazel Leonard, Jess Barrett, Lulu Ott, Dorothy Powell, Laura Joiner, Blanche McDowell and Oma Hall.

Jeanne Ann Kay

Mrs. Norton Gaston, known professionally as Jeanne Ann Kay, is to be guest speaker Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at a reception in her honor to be held in Bowers Memorial Museum, where she will tell some of her experiences in Mexico and Panama.

Vagabond Journey Will Be Described For Museum Guests

Although "The Lure of Mexico" has been announced by Jeanne Ann Kay (Mrs. Norton Gaston) as the general subject upon which she will talk Sunday afternoon at a reception in her honor at Bowers Memorial Museum, Mrs. Gaston has promised to give some time to her experiences in Panama as well.

In connection with the part of her talk devoted to Panama, the enterprising young Santa Ana traveler will show among other curios, an unusual one, well calculated to arouse interest among those in her audience. For it will be nothing less than one of the famous shrunken heads of the aborigines of Ecuador.

These heads, so treated by the inland races of Ecuador as to be diminished in size to the proportions of a doll's head, yet retain every facial characteristic of the native in real life. They are museum pieces as there is strict governmental law regarding their being brought from the country.

So those who see the specimen Sunday afternoon, will be privileged to inspect something that is rarely found outside the larger museums of the country.

Arrangements for the reception and address have been made by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, who named the hour of 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, for Mrs. Gaston's talk. The Mexican theme will be uppermost in all details of the afternoon, including music and the presence of ushers in costumes of the country. Mrs. Gaston's "vagabond journey" will be described in detail, and there will be examples of the diversified arts of the natives of Mexico.

ARMESSES GROUP

Having recently been named to the presidency of Armeses club to succeed Mrs. J. P. McWilliams, Mrs. H. G. Lycan presided Wednesday night over a short business meeting of the club, staged in the anteroom of Modern Woodman hall in advance of the official installation of Mrs. Lycan as president.

With Mrs. Lycan were her sister officers, Mesdames C. A. Rousseau, vice president; Al Adrian, secretary; Earl Lindig, treasurer, and Hugh Whisenand, press reporter, to aid in presenting various business matters. At the close of the session, all attended the Scouts' installation ceremonies, remaining for the dancing which the host lodge had planned as a social sequel to the rites.

Charming Appointments
Mark Luncheon In
Briggs Home

Expressing the current season with just a suggestion of the approach of early spring, decorations yesterday afternoon for Mrs. George Briggs' luncheon were especially charming. Her home at 644 North Broadway was scene of the affair.

Sixteen guests were welcomed. Mrs. John Burns of Wichita, Kans., who is spending the winter in the Southland had sent some of the lovely blossoms used in decorating.

Red tapers in silver holders lighted the lace-spread dining room table with its centerpiece of nandina. Luncheon was served buffet style, with guests finding their places at small tables where violets and snowdrops were gracefully arranged.

Card play of the afternoon yielded prizes for Mrs. Paul Dinanore and Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon.

Women's Union Staff
Installed
At Candlelight Rites

Candlelight ceremonies Wednesday afternoon added to the impressiveness of First Congregational Women's Union installation of officers, with the bungalow as setting for the rites at which Mrs. Bert Miles became president.

Mrs. E. G. Irish, vice-president, served as proxy for Mrs. Miles, who was unable to attend. Others on the staff are Mesdames S. W. Stanley, first vice-president; J. B. Wolfe, second vice-president; Carl Hopkins, third vice-president; Ivon MacFarlane, secretary; Sallie Powell, treasurer.

Committee appointments for the new year were made as follows: Mrs. A. Schellhaus, ways and means; Mrs. C. F. Crose, visiting; Mrs. Etta Sweet, devotionals; Mrs. F. G. Ferrey, program; Miss Mary Kintigh, hospitality; Mrs. R. M. Wolven, decorations; Mrs. Perry Schrock, S. O. S.

As induction rites opened, each member of the audience was given a tiny candle, which she lighted at the close of the ceremony.

Mrs. F. C. Crose made her entry as the spirit of the church. A large candle represented Christ, and many smaller candles gleamed in the room. Flowers and greenery completed the setting.

Mrs. M. LeSourd played the opening piano solo, later accompanying Mrs. Benjamin Livessay as she sang a number. Installing officer was Mrs. H. L. Bascom.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames Ralph Prest, Etta Sweet, James Logan and Harold Bullock.

Ten-Year-Old Girl
Is Birthday Honoree

"Happy birthday" came to Miss Norma Jean Osborne Tuesday when she was ten years old, celebrating the occasion with an afternoon party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Osborne, 811 South Ross street.

Suggesting the approach of St. Valentine's day were decorative details in the refreshment interval, when white birthday cake lighted with crimson candles was served with ice cream. Red tapers, nut cups and favors furthered the chosen motif.

The early afternoon was devoted to games, with Betty Jones and Betty Jean Drake winning two of the prizes. Most successful in pinning the tail on the donkey were Shirley Nail and Jimmie Bell.

Norma Jean received remembrances from the group, who included her brother, David Osborne and Dorothy Drake, Phyllis Price, Janet McKee, Joan Bell, Jimmie Bell, Betty Jean Drake, Shirley Nail, Patricia Whitten, Betty Jones, Norma Doss. Adults in the party with Mrs. Osborne were Mesdames Fred Drake, Glenn Jones, Dale Bell, Gertrude Ellis and Fred Whitten.

COREOPSIS CLUB

Coreopsis club members always have their annual gift exchange in January, so Wednesday afternoon's meeting of the club in the home of Mrs. George Furtich, 131 North Lyon street, was especially enjoyable. The occasion also marked the birthday of Mrs. J. C. Rogers, who received a special remembrance.

The group sewed for part of the time, and spent the remainder of the afternoon playing bunks. Mrs. F. C. Silver and Mrs. Nannie Myers won prizes for high and low scores.

Sweet peas were included in decorations for the event. Mrs. Furtich served refreshments, assisted by her mother and daughter, Mrs. E. J. Miller and Mrs. Joseph Ojeda.

Others present were Mesdames Nannie Myers, Sarah Matthews, Molly Smith, Ellen Howes, Cora Lee, M. Hubbard, Mary Kuhl, Howard Eglington, J. C. Rogers, John Pieper, F. C. Silver, D. M. Forney, all of Santa Ana and Tustin.

Many Homes To Be Opened
For Y. W. Benefit Parties

Out of the direct appeal from the National Y.W.C.A. board, for this community's assistance in the dire need now being experienced by the young women of China, has sprung a wonderful plan for amassing a fund to be sent directly to the scene of war troubles in the Orient, to aid and succor members and beneficiaries of the Young Women's Christian association there.

This plan is for a general benefit affair, the date for which has been set for just a week from today, Friday, January 21. Any number of homes will be open, and every possible taste in entertaining has been consulted in planning the various programs.

For those musically inclined, the Gustin studio, 819 North Sycamore street, will be the scene of a delightfully arranged program. Those with a literary trend may hear a book review by Mrs. John Tessmann, a master of analysis, in the Charles F. Smith home, 1816 Heliostrophe Drive.

First hand information on the situation in the Orient, detailed by various speakers who only recently arrived directly from China, will be the program feature in the Hugh Gerrard home, 2009 Victoria Drive.

Other Parties In addition to these three definitely programmed events are a dozen or more additional parties, for which hostesses will receive groups of friends for an afternoon of cards, and add the proceeds to the general fund. Each hostess will form her own guest group, but response to the plan has been so enthusiastic that already a hostess with invitations already made for a bridge party, decided to make it a benefit affair, and sent out subsequent word to her guests, to that effect.

General Tea To complete the party features so interesting in their promise of entertainment, will be a communal tea, for guests at each program may seek the E. B. Sprague home, 1220 Victoria Drive, for the "Cup that cheers" as a finale to the afternoon. There they will find the hostesses as gracious as those who have greeted them earlier, to preside at dispensing tea and delicacies that accompany it.

In enlisting the sympathies and interest of the Santa Ana Y. W. workers, the national board called attention to the fact that the association has been inevitably enmeshed by war operations in the Orient since in addition to its centers in 18 leading cities of China, its work extends into villages, rural sections, schools and universities.

Now with the usual sources of income and support so thoroughly cut off, there is a constant struggle to maintain essentials of the helpful program for women and young girls who now need this assistance far more than ever. In addition to attempting to maintain the usual program, the Y. W. centers are organizing their members for volunteer emergency work of all kinds. They are maintaining clinics and camps for refugee women and children, holding first aid training classes, and aiding in the care of wounded civilians, amidst the terrors of war and with no knowledge of what the future holds for them.

Message to Friends Every penny raised by such generous gestures as that on the part of Santa Ana Y. W. workers, will be sent directly to China to be administered by the national committee of the Y. W. C. A. of China, in maintaining, adapting and expanding the program during the present emergency. It is with special interest that Santa Ana board members have responded to the appeal from national headquarters, for two of the Y. W. secretaries in China, whose work will be aided by this assistance, are close personal friends and former classmates of Miss Mary Howard, secretary of Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. They are the Misses Margaret E. Brennecke and Jeanne B. Perkins, so Santa Ana's contribution to the cause will go to them as a personal message from friends.

Tickets for this diversified program event will be placed at a price within reach of everyone, for it is hoped to dispose of so many of them, that a generous sum will be raised to send to war-stricken Chinese women. Arrangement has been made whereby these tickets may be secured at any one of three down town points. Those for the book review, very appropriately will be available at the Santa Ana Book store. Quite as appropriately, the musical tickets will be found at the Shaffer Music store, while Wieseman's China store will have the tickets.

When Mrs. Thomas B. Clark entertained last night in compliment to her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Clark and the latter's happy expectations, she made her home at 1819 North Broadway, quite lovely with flowers and tapers in the delicate pink of babyhood, accented with blue delphinium.

She was especially fortunate in having charming pink camellias to enhance her flower decorations, the thoughtful gift of her sister, Mrs. Hugh K. Hougham, former Santa Ana who so recently moved to Sacramento. With these waxen-petaled blossoms were mingled sweet peas, the effect being especially lovely on the lace-spread dining table where gift packages for the honor guest were placed. A large stork and a small doll figured in the general scheme of this table, where many pale pink tapers lent radiance to the scene.

When Mrs. Clark served pink iced cakes, each with a tiny spray of blue flowers, with stork-centered ice cream roll and coffee, she centered each small table with a slim pink candle rising from a mound of sweet peas. Salted nuts were in little bottles and napkins were folded into baby kimonos.

Guests embroidered silken squares for a crib quilt, and enjoyed appropriate contests in which prizes were won by Miss Edna Wilson and Mrs. J. A. Thompson. Mrs. Clark received innumerable charming gifts for her layette.

Mrs. Clark's invitation list in compliment to her sister-in-law includes the mother of their husbands, Mrs. Thomas M. Clark, with Mrs. Beulah Kinyon, mother of Mrs. W. A. Clark, the honor guest, together with the Misses Edna Wilson, Henrietta Rurup, Phyllis Herke, Mesdames Robert Lowry, Frank Willis, Robert Schwarm, LeRoy Levens, J. A. Thompson, Albert C. Markel, Milo Ainsworth and Dr. Hester Olewiler.

SECTION PLAYS BRIDGE

Greeted by a quartet of hostesses, Mesdames George Raymer, Lynn Ostrander, D. E. Liggett and J. L. Marshall, Ebell Fifth Household Economics section spent a pleasant day Tuesday at the clubhouse.

The hostesses had arranged a charming setting of pink and white sweet peas for serving the tempting luncheon menu in the section room, and had planned fully as effective adornment of the lounge, where white ranunculus and larkspur glowed as a background for card tables. For the afternoon was devoted to contract play after Mrs. L. E. Allen, section leader, had disposed of a few business matters.

Mrs. Anna, Bowman and Mrs. Howard Stone made the prize-winning scores in contract. Two guests were welcomed at luncheon and bridge play, Mrs. Robert Marsh, entertained by Mrs. Raymer, and Mrs. Bert McReynolds, present as Mrs. Ostrander's guest.

HUSBANDS ARE GUESTS

Tuesday afternoon bridge club members extended an informal hospitality to their husbands Wednesday evening when covered-dish dinner was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradley, 925 Cypress avenue.

Prizes rewarded Mrs. Harry Bradley and Francis Hall for their high scores in bunks, the game chosen in preference to bridge.

Present were Messrs. and Mesdames Edwin Bradley, Harry Bradley, Robert Broomell, Corwin Frazer, Francis Hall, Richard Hancock, Kimball Pratt and the Richard Bradleys, all of this vicinity; with Mr. and Mrs. William Sylvester Jr. of Wilmington.

Daughters, Mothers
Hold Dinner
Preceding Meetings

Preceding their individual business meeting Wednesday evening, the Job's Daughters and Mothers Circle members numbering 100 assembled in Masonic temple for covered-dish dinner which had been planned by the mothers.

Circle members devoted their meeting to making plans for raising funds for the Bethel's Forest Home recreation hall furnishings. The next meeting of the group will be held Thursday, February 17, in the home of the president, Mrs. E. U. Farmer, 1221 South Barton street. Covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Honored Queen Margaret Abel conducted the Job's Daughters meeting, for which all officers were present. W. J. Dean, finance chairman, reported on a recent theater party and announced that a similar affair is planned for the near future.

It was reported that a member of the Bethel, Miss Alta Hunter, is in St. Joseph hospital recuperating from serious injuries incurred in an automobile accident.

January birthday celebrations will be held in the home of the group on January 26, with initiation to be a feature of the evening. Committees in charge will include the Misses Adelaide Johnson, Dorothea Eddy, Esther Bell Christian, Maxine Campbell, refreshments; Wilmer Thweat, Virginia Marlow, Majorie Tubach, decorations.

Hostesses Entertain For Altar Society Pretty table linens which were among the treasures secured in Germany last year by the Henry Schmidts added to the charm of tables in the Schmidt home Wednesday afternoon when a party was given for the benefit of St. Anne's Altar society.

Mrs. Schmidt and Mrs. William Seelye gave the affair. Sweet peas and ranunculus centered the tables at which dessert was served in advance of card play.

Mrs. Antoine H. Osterkamp and Mrs. Michael Grogan won prizes for their high and low scores in 500. Winners in bridge were Mrs. Joseph Callens and Mrs. A. Van derbeck of Anaheim, who scored in auction; Mrs. Mary Croal and Mrs. Helen Anderson, contract players, with the two hostesses were Mesdames Herbert Glockner, Josephine Schuster, Michael Grogan, C. L. Carnes, Antoine Osterkamp, A. Mandy, A. Vanderbeck, Joseph Callens, Alice Callens, Gus Callens, William Rawson, Anton Borchard, James Colombini, Gladys Williamson, C. Wells, Helen Anderson, Frank Wheeler, M. Norton, Roland Langebeck, Mary Croal.

Auxiliary Drill Team Plans Initiations Plans for initiations which they will conduct in February and March were made by members of Legion Auxiliary drill team Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. David Jellis, 1209 Highland street.

The team will officiate at ceremonies in Riverside February 15, at which time the Auxiliary quartet will take part in the program. March 3 will bring initiatory rites for Santa Ana auxiliary, with Department President Pauline Ellison of Long Beach to be present.

Arrangements were furthered for a benefit dance which the team will give Saturday night, January 22 at 9:30 o'clock in Orange Women's clubhouse. The House Orchestra from Los Serranos Country club play.

Announcement was made that team members will begin a new series of practice sessions January 21.

Mrs. Jellis served refreshments to the group, which included Frances Jones, Alice Roehm, Ida Burnett, Naomi McKee, Sue Featherly, Alice Dodder, Lucille Sullivan, Myrtle Swarthout, Gladys Lieberman, Geneva Welch, Fay Minnix, Tona Sandon.

CRAFT GROUP MEETS

When members of Woman's club Homestead section met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. E. A. Elwell, 907 Lower street, they spent the time working on decorations for the general membership's birthday luncheon February 1.

Covered-dish luncheon was enjoyed by the group, who included the hostess and Mesdames Raymond McMahon, J. E. Braden, Earl Ladd, Charles Hossfield, Charles W. Clarke, R. G. Carman and M. O. Wells.

Finnish Women
Described For College Group

In California for a year of research at La Jolla Marine laboratory, Dr. Stina Grippenberg of Finland brought a refreshing picture of her native land and its women to Orange County Branch A. A. U. W. last night when she was guest speaker at a fellowship dinner in the Y. W. rooms.

A member of Finnish Federation of University Women, Dr. Grippenberg was given an A. A. U. W. fellowship, with her choice of a year of research in Seattle or in La Jolla, which she selected. Her work with a group of scientists studying the canyons of the sea was described informally during the dinner preceding the formal program.

"Women's Work in Finland" was the theme of her main address, during which she pointed out that Finland became a republic 20 years ago. She traced the emancipation of women in Finland from 1758, when the fair sex was given the right to vote for pastors of the Lutheran church. In 1871, women were admitted to universities; in 1916, they were given suffrage; in 1929, the right to hold government positions.

The speaker said that 40 per cent of those gainfully employed in Finland, are women. Although they do much the same types of work as women of the United States many of the Finnish feminine workers have branched out in banking and other fields more than have women of this country, she said. She referred to two of the main women's organizations of Finland as the Martha society, whose purpose is to raise the standards of home life; and a group of 70 thousand strong which serves the civic guards, a voluntary reserve army.

During an open forum at the close of her talk, Dr. Grippenberg said that the people of Finland are very musical. In Helsinki, the largest city in Finland, the opera season lasts from September until May, she said.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Horace Scott, fellowship chairman. Miss Mabel Whitting conducted the meeting, which was attended by a large number of members as well as guests from Business and Professional Women's club and Altrusa club.

Miss Mabel McFadden, program chairman, announced that the next meeting, Thursday, February 10 at 6:30 p. m. in Episcopal Church of Messiah parish room, will be in charge of Mrs. John Tessmann, international relations chairman. Speaker will be Dr. Earl Cranston of Redlands.

EVENING PARTY

A dozen young people spent a most enjoyable evening recently in the Ray Todd home, 1331 South Sycamore street, where Miss Wynnette Todd was hostess at an evening of games and music.

The pretty new home was bright with flowers for the evening's merriment, which included refreshments in whose serving Mrs. Todd was assisted by Mrs. Carl Becker of Tustin.

Miss Wynnette's guests were the Misses Roberta Benedict, Zephia Lage, Janet Rudman, Ottalie Bruner and Cleo Bell Brown, with Messrs. Jack Hamilton, Everett DeVoe, Robert Perry, Kenneth Skinner, Robert Collier and "Spud" Warriker.

Dessert Bridge Affair
Marks Calendar
February 14

Once again members of Ebell Child Study section are making plans for their annual benefit party, with this year's event to take place Monday evening, February 14 at 7:30 o'clock in the clubhouse peacock room.

Plans for the gala Valentine day function were made Wednesday night at a meeting in the home of Mrs. John Scripps on Heliostrophe Drive. Hostesses with Mrs. Scripps were Mesdames Chester Horton and Kenneth Conner.

Speaker of the evening was Judge Kenneth Morrison, who talked on "Youth of Today". Mrs. Thoburn White, leader, conducted business matters. It was announced that the February party will be open to men as well as women, with dessert to be served in advance of bridge play. There will be prizes.

Mrs. Roscoe Conklin is general chairman of the party. Her committee chairmen include Mrs. Aubrey Gilnes, tickets; Mrs. Ralph Watson, tables; Mrs. James Moritz, food and serving; Mrs. John Lacy Taylor, tallies, cards and accessories; Mrs. Chester Horton, prizes; Mrs. Kenneth Conner, publicity.

During Wednesday night's refreshment interval, Mrs. White and Mrs. Newell Moore presided at the prettily arranged table.

Kindergarten-Primary Group Entertained Both interesting and instructive was the program shared this week by members of Orange County Kindergarten-Primary association, entertained in Washington school, Garden Grove, by an address by Dr. Edward Lee Russell, assistant county health officer and director of the division of child hygiene in the association.

"What the school can do about mental health" was the general theme of his talk in which he brought out the lack of concern in the past, as to the importance of attention to mental health in the child. He stated that statistics show a 100 per cent increase over the past 25 years, in the number of individuals consigned to institutions because of impaired mental faculties, and that present tables show that 75 per cent of hospital beds are given over to mental patients.

That some authorities assert that one in ten of the oncoming generations will spend some time in mental institutions, was another thing brought out by the speaker who emphasized the importance of building for sound physical health, since physical conditions play such an important part in mental attitudes. He advanced the suggestion that teachers should all undergo physical examinations to be followed by a survey of mental habits and family history.

In advance of the interesting talk, association members enjoyed a social interval during which Garden Grove P.T.A. members served tea.

EARLY COUNTY HISTORY TOLD

VILLA PARK, Jan. 14.—One of the largest groups to assemble at the Villa Park hall for a meeting of the Foothill Farm center was that of last night when a program of unusual interest was presented, with W. W. Wieman, principal of Lathrop evening high school as the principal speaker. Thomas Hight presided and the directors' report was given by Director Harry L. Tritt.

Report on Convention
H. H. Gardner and Dian Gardner gave reports of the county farm bureau convention at Santa Ana. Dian Gardner urged opposition to the proposed one-house legislature which he said would give Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda counties controlling interest, and opposition to the proposed repeal of the sales tax. He pointed out that the greater part of taxes goes to education and that of this amount a large percentage is supplied by the sales tax.

Cecil J. Marks, newly appointed farm bureau executive secretary, was introduced and made a brief talk. Attention was called to the newly formed farm bureau chorus which now is a part of the Orange Union High school night courses. The chorus has 41 members and meets every Monday in the school music room, with Monroe Sharpless of the Fullerton Junior college as director.

Tells of Voyage
Bill Tritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Tritt, gave a highly entertaining account of a six months' voyage around the world at a cost of $600 when he traveled aboard Norwegian and Swedish freighters. Wieman related numbers of interesting and little known stories of early Orange county, telling of the naming of the Santa Ana river by early Spanish explorers when on the first day of May they saw a 30 feet wide, a foot and a half deep as they camped on its shores near what is now Olive. It was first named the River of the Name Jesus and as an earthquake took place a few hours afterward, it was then named the River of the Name of Jesus of the Earthquakes. A little later it received its present name, said the speaker.

The early struggle for the separation of what is now Orange county from Los Angeles county and the competition for the county seat was related. Motion pictures followed the talks. Hostesses were Mrs. Fred Heitshusen and Mrs. O. A. Linnertz.

Prettily Arranged Tea Honors Las Gitanas and Mothers

As a charming gesture to members of Jaycee Las Gitanas service club of which she had been president for the past semester, Miss Betty West, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Z. Bertland West, Jr., 1210 North Ross street, presided at an exceptionally lovely tea Wednesday afternoon in honor of the members and their mothers.

Throughout the living room were vivid poinsettias and completing the color scheme of red and white, a white pottery bowl filled with miniature poinsettias served as centerpiece on the lace covered tea table in the dining room.

Dozens of white candles in silver holders filled the rooms with a soft light. On the buffet an exquisite white pottery Madonna, made by Mrs. West, surrounded by altar candles, transformed the spot into a shrine.

Assisting Mrs. West and Miss Betty were Mrs. Charles Cogan and her daughter Eleanor of Tustin; Miss Muriel Anderson and Miss Carol Erskine, advisors of the club, and Miss Jean Mulbar.

Miss Agnes Todd Miller and Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean and assistant dean of women at Junior college, presided at the tea table.

Las Gitanas mothers and members present were Mrs. A. L. Rasmussen and daughter Gwen; Mrs. C. G. Nalle and Miss Jayne; Mrs. Maude Bronson and daughter, Miss Mildred McCullough; Mrs. George Krock and Miss Justine; Mrs. J. C. Coombs and daughter Barbara; Mrs. H. M. Nelson and Miss Florence; Mrs. Dora Rogers and Miss Violet; Mrs. F. B. Perkins and Miss Mary; Mrs. M. A. Warner and daughter Helen; Mrs. H. T. Warner and Miss Barbara; Mrs. A. H. Meyer and Miss Helen; Mrs. S. H. Bradley and daughter Betty; Mrs. A. E. Curren and Miss Ruth; Mrs. R. D. Plaherty and daughter Josephine; Mrs. W. C. Goodwin and Miss Mildred; Mrs. Herbert Witt and daughter Evelyn; and Mrs. Leslie Pearson and Miss Mildred, all from Santa Ana.

From Orange was Mrs. P. D. Moore and daughter Helen, and from Garden Grove came Mrs. G. A. Luz and Miss Elynor; Mrs. R. A. Chaffe and daughter Ethel; Mrs. D. S. Jordan and Miss Donita, and Mrs. W. V. Brady and daughter Eleanor.

IN BALBOA HOME

California's "June in January" weather inspired Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus to receive guests in her summer home on Balboa peninsula Tuesday afternoon when she was hostess to members of her bridge club.

Calendulas and sweet peas were included in decorations for the event, which was shared by Mesdames Lyle Anderson, Eugene Robinson, Anton Segerstrom and Howard Rapp, guests; with Mesdames Richard Couden, Guy Ford, Charles Givens, Leon Dickey, Charles Nussbaumer, Walter Hill, Don Andrews and the hostess, members.

Richest Girl in the World

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
CONSTANCE CORRY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday: Relieved of her cash when the bus is robbed, Katie or Connie is forced to fall on Bret Hardesty for help. And, she reacts, fate was not so bad at that.

CHAPTER VIII

THEY were to change buses at Asheville. Over a delicious breakfast of ham and eggs and coffee, they discussed "ways and means," as Bret expressed it.

"Are you good at figures?" he asked. "I could use a girl at the camp. Old Pop Walters is the only one in the office now and has more work than he can handle since the job's in full swing. You'd be doing me a real favor, Miss Blyn, if you'd like to try it."

Connie thought how fine it was of him to put it that way. She said she would like to, very much. Thanks to Uncle Tippy, she was prepared for an opening like this. He had seen to it that his niece had acquired sufficient business training that would enable her to understand and handle her large inheritance.

"Of course it's rather a rough place for a girl," Bret spoke a shade dubiously. "Though I promise I'll look after you. You can room at Mrs. Parson's in the village. Everyone calls her Aunt Bertha," he added, his eyes twinkling. "You will, too, after you've sampled her biscuits and corn bread."

"I don't know how I can ever thank you," she said, her blue eyes shining; she had discarded the inevitable dark glasses now that there was less fear of recognition. This was going to be an adventure such as she had dreamed would come to her. "I don't know why you should do this for me."

When they arrived at Charleston the following day Bret hired an automobile for the 100 mile trip to the little town near which he was building his bridge. He explained he had driven his own car down south to leave with his folks for the winter.

"Now we're getting into real country," Bret said, later on. "See those big boys looming up in the distance? They're the Shenandoahs; 6000 feet, some of them. Feel the difference in the air? Take a breath and fill your lungs. It will wash away all your troubles, make you new once more."

"You love your country, don't you?" Connie's voice was soft with understanding.

He said, "I do, and I hope you'll learn to love it, too. One thing I can guarantee," he flashed her a grin, "you'll have plenty of elbow room! You'll be as free as the birds that have the whole heaven for their own."

"How did you know," she asked, "that freedom is what I want more than anything, a chance to try my own wings for awhile?"

"Isn't that what everyone wants? Though after you've tried them you'll be glad to fly back to your nest—and your sweetheart—again."

"No," Connie shook her head, took a deep breath of the air that, as he had told her, seemed to wash all the past away, making her reborn again. "I don't believe I'll want to go back. Certainly not because of any one person! When I do, perhaps I'll always wish I could return—as you have."

She did not know then, either, how true her words would prove.

BRET said he thought they had better stop at the McGally's cabin, which they would reach soon, to get warm and have dinner. It would be dark by the time they reached their destination. Already it was growing dusk.

The cabin, like most of those they had passed, was built of logs, cemented with mud, but inside it was neat and clean. The old couple welcomed Bret as though he were a relation, though like the people in the hills, they did not make a show of emotion.

"Tis well you're getting back," the old man said with that easy drawl that fell so sweetly on Connie's unaccustomed ears. "Things ain't been going too likely without you, Mr. Hardesty. I hear tell some of your men walked out on old Pop Walters. The 'lazy loafers.' Though I reckon it won't take long for you to whip 'em back to harness."

"I reckon not!" Bret laughed, but his dark eyes were troubled. As soon as they had eaten he said he thought they had better "push on."

The old man told them there had been a heavy snow higher in the hills. "Wouldn't surprise me," he added, "by the looks of them clouds but what we was due for more. Maybe you'd better let us put you up for the night, Mr. Hardesty."

Bret thanked him for his hospitality, but refused it. "That is," he looked at Connie, "unless you'd rather not risk it?"

"I'd much rather go on," she hastened to assure him, she knew that was what he wanted.

The old people shook hands with each of them, wished them a safe journey. Then the woman said, her small eyes in her face, as wrinkled and weather-beaten as the man's, lighting up with interest. "Would you mind my asking? You ain't bringing home a bride, be you, Mr. Hardesty?"

"A BRIDE! Bret looked startled, as though the suggestion were sheer impossibility. Then he laughed. "Why, no. Miss Blyn is going to help with the books. She'll live at Mrs. Parson's."

"Reckon she'll put on a few pounds then," Mrs. McGally said. "And 'tis just as well, cause I know of at least one heart as would be broken."

"So! You must have a sweetheart, too—since you accused me of one, Mr. Hardesty," Connie said after they were on their way again.

"Indeed I haven't," he returned promptly, the color spreading up into his dark face, however. "All that women think of, it seems, is romance."

"Maybe the day will come when you'll find it's worth thinking about," Connie predicted. She supposed there had not been much time for romance in his busy life. Yet she liked that about him.

"I hope it never does," he said darkly; then his scowl deepened. "That is snow ahead. It'll be coming down on us before long." Even as he spoke the big flakes started to fall; before long the windshield was thick with them, the road and hills covered with a clean white blanket.

"It's beautiful!" Connie exclaimed. "I didn't suppose it could be so beautiful, or change so quickly."

Bret said it was pretty enough, but he hoped the road would remain passable.

"You mean we might not be able to get through tonight?"

"That's it exactly." They were just creeping along now, so slippery and steep was the road. It was impossible to see more than a foot or two ahead. "I shouldn't have risked it with you," his tone was contrite.

"But I love it!" Connie assured him. There was something dangerous and primitive about this storm here in this wild country that appealed to her. She had known so little of that sort of experience in her hothouse existence. "Please don't turn back. I'm not the least bit afraid." She knew, as she said it, that she would never be afraid to face anything with him.

As though to force the proof of this the car skidded then suddenly, sickeningly.

BY ANN MEREDITH

I like cranberry jelly that stays quietly where placed on the plate, don't you? Well, bake the berries and they'll not only stay put but look like crown jewels, or as the contributor of the recipe says, "these cranberries look like candied cherries."

Baked Cranberries

1 quart cranberries, looked over and well washed.
2 cups hot water.
3 cups sugar. —Contributed.
Bake in a 350 degree oven for one hour. Let stand until quite cold and the berries will be firmly jellied and of fine color.

Send a favorite recipe and a stamped addressed envelope for the Clory Chart. You'll find the knowledge of benefit to yourself and an interesting subject to discuss with your friends.

This is one of those fine Saturday-for-Sunday desserts that need only chilling to be perfect.

Burnt Almond Cream
1 cup blanched almonds caramelized with 2 tablespoons sugar
1-2 cups rich milk scalded in double boiler
3 egg yolks beaten with
2-3 cup sugar
1 envelope plain gelatine softened in 1-2 cup cold water
1 cup whipping cream, beaten stiff
2 egg whites beaten stiff
Few drops of almond and vanilla extracts.

While the milk is heating, run the caramelized almonds through the food grinder and add them to the hot milk. Add the softened gelatine now, then stir in the egg yolks and sugar and cook until the custard coats the spoon. Cool it and whip in the cream, flavorings and beaten egg whites. The recipe makes eight large servings. Or, piled on slices of angel food it serves 12.

4 medium apples, peeled, chopped and cooked 15 minutes with 1-2 cup sugar and 1-4 cup water. (Drain apples after cooking) In a deep baking pan melt 2 cups sugar with 2 cups water

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

THE TECHNIQUE

Every art, craft or job of any sort has its own technique. If one is to excel in his work he must learn that technique so thoroughly that it becomes the natural, easy habitual way of working. Technique is mastered by following the rules, understanding them, practicing them over and over. It is a dull business, one which children shun because it is a discipline beyond their endurance.

Yet technique must be learned. The musician must learn how to place his hands, how to use them. He must learn to read and execute the written notes. The artist must master line and shadow, form and color. The craftsman must master his materials, learn to use his tools, learn the ways of his craft. Children, in order to learn any of these practices, ought to start early, so early that abstract technique is beyond them. They live in the present moment and have to have the immediate success of their efforts. If they find that their efforts result in a bungled job, an unlovely result, they turn from the task discouraged and it is difficult to get them to turn to it again.

Imitation is the easiest way for children who are beginning any art or craft. They can copy what they see done. They can trace lines, do as the teacher does, step by step. It is permissible to help them get the right way by doing the hard things for them. Start making the basket because starting it is one of the hardest steps in the process. And finish it, for that too, is hard. Let the beginner do this in-between work and so get a good result.

While a child is in the imitative stage of learning never mind teaching him the rules as such. Be careful that the work he is imitating is accomplished by the right technique so that he will not have to unlearn what he learns at the start. He can imitate perfect work as easily as he can the careless and imperfect work. The first lessons are to give him confidence, liking, pleasure. When he has accepted the work as his own choice rather than the imposed task of the teacher, he will kindle an interest in it that will allow him to want the technique. Then he learns it easily.

Don't be afraid to let beginners play by ear. In that way they can hear the music as they know it ought to be. Play easy little melodies, the familiar ones, and let him imitate what he saw and heard. Soon he will be playing nicely, his hands in good position, under good control, not because somebody sat by him with a lead pen, ready to crack his knuckles, but because somebody sat beside him to help him play what he liked to play, and showed him how. He will learn the technique gradually, and gladly.

The same thing holds for drawing and painting. Let the beginners copy the teacher; learn, in good time as they indicate the need, the rules and the technique of the art. The idea in such work is always the successful result, the result that pleases the child. We are not creating an artist. We are opening the way for a child to experience art and to practice it. If he becomes an artist, that is so much the better.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Bedtime Troubles," in which he tells parents how to overcome irritability in children. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

DRIVE CAREFULLY -SAVE A LIFE-

POLYOPOLY

While you're doing those mental gymnastics on monopoly and its evils, you might work out a while with this one—polyopoly.

Maybe we're going to have to learn not only some new ideas, but some new words to describe them. Polyopoly is an artificially-built word carpentered by a Washington official. Here's how he did it:

If one man or one business dominates a trade situation so as to be able to fix prices in that trade, that is a monopoly. But if several different individuals or businesses, working in cahoots, achieve the same results, that's polyopoly.

True, as Master Shakespeare long ago pointed out, "that which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." And monopoly would be no less fragrant if we got into the habit of calling one version of it polyopoly.

THEY CAME BACK

For the tenth year, Alabama tries out its "Christmas parole" plan for "most worthy" prison convicts.

Bound only by "word of honor, man-to-man" compacts with Gov. Bibb Graves and their wardens, these men and women were sent home for a Christmas "vacation" of two weeks, at the end of which time they came straggling back to serve the rest of their sentences.

Last year seven out of several hundred failed to return. This year the record was better. It proves that even men and women convicted of crime can be relied upon if given something to work toward, some incentive to better conduct. The novel plan, already justified by 10 years of experience, is a bright spot on a penal system that still has altogether too many dark sides.

BANNER BUILDING YEAR

Building activity in Santa Ana during 1937 was the greatest since 1911 with the exception of two or three years, the banner year being 1923 when the total construction amounted to more than $5,000,000.

Approximately a million and a quarter dollars were expended in Santa Ana last year for construction work. Permits for the year totaled 1267.

Harold Rasmussen, city building inspector, declared that he believed 1938 would be an even greater year for building in Santa Ana, especially if the new Federal Housing Act is passed.

Mr. Rasmussen, while making no predictions said: "If I were asked to voice an opinion it would be to the effect that if the Federal Housing Administration manages to pass the bill that now is before the Senate, and I feel sure they will, which will reduce the initial cash layout for building loans from 20 to 10 per cent of the cost of the house, Santa Ana, and the entire nation, is due for a sharp upturn in building."

"The bill already has passed the House. Since home owners are our best citizens, as a rule, we in the building department sincerely hope that the bill passes."

The construction total last year is more remarkable when one considers the fact that very little WPA work was included in it. Even in the year previous the total was not equal to 1937, despite several projects being completed.

A CRYING EVIL

We have nothing but the liveliest admiration for the officers who are trying to overcome the parking evil in this city. Even when they have to attach a red ticket to a car left overtime in a restricted area, they do it with a smile. They are doing their duty and doing it with courtesy.

But after all, the parking question is not a matter of life and death. And there are some phases of the city traffic problem that are exactly that. If a pedestrian attempts to cross an intersection against the signal, what happens? He is whistled back instantly. Yet in the heavy holiday traffic at Fourth and Main streets, two youths on bicycles came dashing south on Main and disregarding the signals, crossed and turned east on Fourth in the very face of oncoming traffic. There was no warning whistle, but several pedestrians stood rooted in horror lest they might see a young life crushed out.

This morning two bright young things, evidently high school bound, whirled their little placarded roadster out of the intersection at Fifth and Broadway with no regard for stop signs, and a line of cars honked horns furiously as they swerved far out to avoid collision that seemed almost inevitable. A few evenings ago two lads on bicycles wheeled out of the same intersection, and there wasn't more than an inch between one of them and a big car, whose driver looked like he would have a heart attack.

Those whose work takes them to the business section of the city, see these scenes repeated day after day. If one of these youths were injured, public sentiment would be against the driver of the car. Common sense would exonerate him. But it wouldn't remove his own everlasting regret.

A prominent junior high school teacher expatiated on the same subject. "What can we do? We make rules and talk and exact promises, but that is all the good it does. It is a pity that the police don't make a few arrests. It probably would do more to check a very crying evil than all the things that all the schools combined, can teach."

Sharing the Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

OPEN LETTER TO JAY FRANKLIN

Under the heading of "Economic Lunacy at Detroit," Jay Franklin sets forth some doctrines that we would like to have him explain, if he is doing what he says, namely, attempting to be of service to his fellowman.

He says, "All that General Motors, Chrysler and Ford wanted (referring to a year ago) was the right to keep their factories running, the right to give jobs to workers without outside dictation, the right to work on making automobiles."

We would ask Mr. Franklin to answer, (1) Whether or not these corporations, together with other corporations, have been granted this right by the government? Has not the government assumed the responsibility of being the final authority as to whom the automobile manufacturers had a right to discharge?

(2) Have the employers been permitted by the government to use the fruits of successful production in giving jobs without having from 40 to 90 per cent of their gain confiscated in the form of taxes without anything given in return?

(3) Would you, Mr. Franklin, hold people responsible without giving them the right to use their best judgment in attempting to work to the general welfare to furnish employment at good wages?

(4) Mr. Franklin, do you know of any place in all history where a man can be held responsible without giving him freedom of decision?

(5) What would you suggest that the automobile manufacturers should do, when they have had the greatest and most rapid decrease in sales in their history with the large, piled up inventory?

(6) Would you suggest that these manufacturers keep on producing cars that the people are telling them, by their refusal to buy, they do not want at the price? If you did, what would you do with these cars after you had manufactured and piled up more of them?

(7) Would you sell them at a loss?

(8) If the loss was so much that the capital was depleted and you could not produce more cars, would this benefit the workers in the long run?

(9) Would you cut the costs?

(10) If so, how would you cut the costs to benefit the workers in the long run?

(11) Would it be working for the general welfare to continue to make cars just to furnish work?

(12) Is it to the general welfare to attempt to give jobs to a certain group of people at the wages they think they are entitled to, or is it working to the general welfare to preserve the capital of the employer so that the real price—the human energy required to get the comforts of life—can be reduced to the consumers.

We respectfully request, Mr. Franklin, that you enlighten our readers on these subjects, if you are really interested in reducing unemployment and bettering your fellowman as you claim so frequently.

If you refuse to do this, it is logical to conclude, it would seem, that you are not interested in your fellowman, that you are a most selfish individual writing on important educational matters ONLY for pay and are one of the worst elements in any social structure.

If Mr. Franklin continues to refuse to answer the questions that arise in the minds of the readers as to how his plans, if adopted by those he so carelessly and unfairly criticizes, would enable them to serve their customers in succeeding years as well as the present, then it might be necessary eventually to discontinue giving Mr. Franklin an opportunity to present to The Register readers promises of bettering conditions for which he has no plan to bring into fruition.

The columns are open, Mr. Franklin, if you are a man.

ROOSEVELT'S HEALTH

A life-long Democrat remarked that by 1940 Roosevelt's health would be so impaired that he could not be a candidate.

There does not seem to be any reason to conclude that Roosevelt's health will be impaired. Any man who is so absolutely sure of his position that he never has the faintest conception that he might possibly have been in error and caused others to suffer has nothing that will undermine his health.

It is the man who, when he has serious responsibilities, recognizes that possibly he might make mistakes, is the one who usually breaks under such a great strain.

But when a man can throw off the miseries and sufferings of others and blame it on someone else, even though he is responsible, there is nothing to shock his nervous system or in any way interfere with the normal actions of his organisms. Certainly Roosevelt's health is fine and will continue to be fine as far as his nerves are concerned.

He does not have the faintest conception that he has made any mistakes.

Neither did the German Kaiser's health suffer or he believe he made a mistake.

NEEDS OF SOCIETY

Now that we are contending that one-third of the country is ill-fed, ill-clothed and ill-housed, what William Graham Sumner has to say in his book, "What Social Classes Owe to Each Other," is timely.

"A human society needs the active co-operation and productive energy of every person in it. A man who is present as a consumer, yet who does not contribute either by land, labor, or capital to the work of society, is a burden. On no sound political theory ought such a person to share in the political power of the state. He drops out of the ranks of workers and producers. Society must support him. It accepts the burden, but he must be cancelled from the ranks of the rulers likewise."

Before this depression is over, we will get to realize the importance of this statement.

Mose visited a lawyer.

"Ah wants a divorce," he said. "Dat woman jes' talk, talk, talk, night an' day. A cain't get no rest and dat talk an' drivin' me crazy."

"What does she talk about?" asked the lawyer.

"She doan' say."—The Laughter Library.

After Taking a Quick Look at the Neighbors

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The annual report of the Attorney General is a constructive record—not only in its recommendations for the future, but in the relation of what the Department of Justice has done in the past year.

Of course, the record of Edgar Hoover's FBI is known to everybody. The work it has done in crime suppression is a matter of national concern of first magnitude. While it is true that Mr. Cummings did not appoint Mr. Hoover, and that the latter's work is his own, yet the Attorney General insisted on his retention and has supported him in his magnificent efforts.

If Homer Cummings' plans are carried through, he will lay down the administration of federal justice in far better condition than he took it up.

His principal recommendations are (1) for complete procedural reform, simplifying and speeding the archaic rules of practice in the federal courts, (2) the appointment of a sufficient number of additional judges to insure that none of the present heart-breaking judicial delays continue for want of proper manning of the bench, (3) the creation of an administrative and fiscal overseer for the whole judicial system under the chief justice of the Supreme court.

Taken together, these three accomplishments would work a beneficent revolution in federal court procedure.

The latter, I think, is of the utmost importance. After all, the administration of justice is a business. The planning and conduct of it is not a judicial function. It is a purely executive or managerial job. It seems simply incredible that the vast sprawling court system has for so long had no managerial department to plan and speed and supervise this mechanical aspect of its work. Such supervision, as there has been, is now in a conference of circuit judges and in the Department of Justice.

The Attorney General, pleading for the United States, is the principal litigant before these courts. He should have the smallest possible force of trial lawyers.

After finding so many things to pan, it is a pleasure to look at the story of a whole year's work in one great cabinet branch and find so nearly a perfect score—a well organized and manned machine hitting on all cylinders.

There have been many rumors that Mr. Cummings is tired and getting ready to step out of the cabinet. The country has good reason to hope that he won't do it—at least until he gets all this job of reformation buttoned up.

Editor Register: We are enjoying your "Sharing the Comforts" very much.

I wish all of them could reach the president, it surely would open his eyes! One item you omitted when writing about the Townsend plan was: Any tax for a pension is paid for by the wage earner. Every time he buys food, clothing or the comforts of life. Therefore by the time he is 60, he will have paid for his pension.

Sincerely, W. F. REYNOLDS, Orange, Cal.

Editor Register: Our fair county seems to have become a battlefield. There are attacks and counter-attacks. There are claims of victory from first one side then the other. The fine art of spreading propaganda has no peer in the countries of Europe. An undeclared war has been declared and the chief task confronting the citizens of Orange county is to keep neutral, weigh the facts, and act for the good of the county when the proper time comes.

The fault at the present time seems to be that one faction is fighting another faction, one of which is setting itself up as judge and jury. How can the Board of Supervisors or any one member of that body possibly impartially hold up for public gaze the faults of other public officials when said inquisitors are prejudiced in the very beginning?

This endeavor on the part of certain individuals to discredit a number of our public officials and the administration of their offices is happening at the time when reorganization of the county government is being agitated. Let us take this also into account while playing the part of spectators in the drama of the hares and the hound. If this reorganization of the county government were effected, would it not be easier for one board, dominated by an individual to become a Hitler or a Mussolini, though in a smaller role?

If there is to be an investigation of the administration of county government, why not appoint a body of men and women who have no axes to grind or political opponents to punish, to do the investigating?

We, The People

By JAY FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In the first political test of public sentiment since the onset of the "recession," the New Deal has won an impressive victory. That is the meaning of the Alabama primary election, where Congressman Lister Hill got a 2-to-1 majority over the greatest rabble-rouser in Alabama's history: "Tom-tom" Hefflin.

Hefflin, the former Kluxer and "dry" crusader, was backed by the big money; the banks, the utilities, the iron and steel interests, the factory owners and the Chambers of Commerce. He was running for the job of U. S. Senator on a program for legislative independence. Hill was an out-and-out New Dealer, and ran on a program of backing up the President and continuing the fight for cheaper electricity through the TVA and for a wages-and-hours bill which will end sweat-shop conditions in southern mills.

In the closing days of the campaign, Hefflin was snuffed by an attack of pneumonia which confined him to a hospital and may thereby have lost some of his possible support but Hill's majority was so sweeping that Hefflin has no alibi. Alabama voters prefer the New Deal.

This provides a sort of straw-vote to show the strength of New Deal enthusiasm in the deep south and is calculated to produce a magical chemical effect on the political attitudes of many southern senators who have been knifing the national reform program—always excepting that unreconstructed octogenarian, Carter Glass of Virginia, and other denizens of the same belt of American politics.

The question is: Will Hill's New Deal victory—not to mention the supreme court's recent decisions against the utilities—make any real difference in the attitude of those business interests which have been financing and encouraging last year's "counter-revolution" on Capitol Hill? Will big business see the moving finger write in red ink on its political fences as well as on its ledgers?

For the American problem is the basic problem of human coordination. How can we persuade people to obey the laws of the land and not to resort to civil disobedience or passive resistance to public authority whenever a private interest considers itself aggrieved or injured? Democracy rests on the belief that the minority will cooperate with the will of the majority. The alternative is a dictatorship of the right or of the left.

It would be fun to pretend that the lawlessness of big business is unique and that the rest of us are innocent victims of the "aristocratic

SWIMMING, EXERCISE AND MASSAGE ARE AIDS IN TREATING PARALYSIS VICTIMS

This is the second in a series of three articles in which Dr. Fishbein discusses muscular treatment in infantile paralysis.

In helping children who have recovered from infantile paralysis to regain as much as possible of the functions of their muscles, the best efforts of specialists in orthopedic surgery and of technicians who are trained in physical therapy may be required.

In most large cities such services are available through centers for the handicapped when people are unable to bear the cost of such care.

The question of treating infantile paralysis victims is of particular interest now because of the forthcoming President Roosevelt birthday balls to raise money to fight the disease.

The first step in treatment is, of course, to determine exactly how much damage has been done by the disease. This is done by carefully testing the power of the muscles to work, not only performing the usual voluntary motions but also testing ability of the tissues to work against measured resistance.

During this period, mild baking of the tissues with electric light lamps and gentle massage will help to improve the blood supply, is essential to healing and development.

Exercise must be begun gradually and in each instance must be definitely planned according to the extent of the condition. The amount of resistance to activity of the muscles may be raised or lowered as a measure of the exercise.

At this period, the pool or tank of warm water is useful, because it prevents friction and aids support of weakened tissues.

There is a common belief that the warm water of certain springs or pools has special healing virtues greater than those available in other places. So far as we know, a warm water pool is just as useful in Chicago or in California as it is in Florida or Georgia.

Equally important, however, are the presence of trained experts in the use of underwater exercise and the proper spirit in relationship to the care of the crippled child. One of the chief values that adheres to the special resorts that have been developed for the crippled is the fine spirit that prevails in such institutions and which is a definite stimulus toward recovery.

Doctors who specialize in rehabilitation of the crippled are likely to discourage attempts to walk too soon. If, however, the spirit of the patient is broken and his morale is low, it may be permitting him to walk a little with proper supports and splints.

Walking does not, however, increase the strength of the muscles particularly, whereas especially planned exercise may do so.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—(INS)—Mr. Roosevelt disclosed his "better understanding" conference with the big five industrialists was arranged by mutual friends. He did not say who.

One friend who acted as second for the President in negotiating for the meeting was a very good friend, an exceptionally close friend. He was James Roosevelt, secretary and son, whose level-headed handling of many an inside affair lately has won him the title of the president's new right eye. (Truth is he has become an extra arm as well. He handled a difficult cabinet personality matter recently without leaving any soreheads lying around.)

But you might have guessed all day and never have come close to the identity of the man who actually initiated the liaison negotiations with son James. He is a capable labor leader whose name does not get into print as often as some others—President George Harrison of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Others, including Donald Richberg entered negotiations later. But Harrison was the initial mediator, acting entirely on his own.

That, of course, confirms the President's assertion that the initiative for the good will meeting was not taken by either the industrialists or himself.

In other words, the gathering was not the off-hand social arrangement it may have appeared to be. A definite engagement existed before Mr. Roosevelt delivered his Jackson day speech. It is just possible that the blanket invitation for anyone who had a plan to come up to see him at the White House, was written into the speech with the meeting in view. But even before that, before the Jackson-leaves small-explosives were thrown at the terrible ten per cent of business, negotiations for the conference were undertaken by Harrison.

Initiation of it dates back to the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers in New York, December 9. Then Chairman Colby Chester of the N. A. M. delivered a speech which was headlined "Industry invites New Deal to join it in war on slump."

Apparently, Harrison believed he could bring this invitation and the president's first broad invitation to business in his message to congress, into one joint mutual invitation. Labor has a vital interest in the matter. If government and business are going to get together, or even if the top 10 per cent of business will have to be slain first, labor is not going back to work until something is done. So either the cooperating or the killing had better be gotten over with as quickly as possible.

This was the background of the meeting.

The air was slightly chilly for the first 15 minutes of the conference. Neither the president nor the industrialists seemed free from embarrassment. They without any particular remark breaking the ice, it thawed gradually.

The President asked Sloan (chairman of the N. A. M. platform committee) about installment buying in the motor industry; asked Weir (board member of N. A. H.) about freight rate differentials in the steel industry, etc., etc.

No agreement was made. None was offered by either side. The conversation was never brought down to a question of "I will do this if you'll do that," by either the party of the first or second part. The President submitted no plan. Neither did the industrialists. Only concrete accomplishment was the establishment of good will which is regarded of the utmost importance by many sideline persons who are not seeking the personal political advantages out of the existing situation. The industrialists found out the President did not appear to be Tarzan and the President found the businessmen did not look like King Kong.

The White House has intimated unofficially there will be no resumption of the meetings, but there may be. No arrangement was made for it, but certain things are in the wind for a labor angle, which may possibly work out hopefully.

The list of executives who receive high salaries is now known as the official government "sucker list." One exec. whose name appears on the list is making good use of it. He bought a bootlegged copy last year and used it as a sucker list for selling his product. As this is the only known good accomplished, congressmen are considering legislation to have the government sell copies of its official "sucker list" and thus help to balance the budget.

Sotto voce growling has been heard among Jackson Day diners against the $100 a plate tariff. Practically all who attended are office-holders and their pay while the national committee has a deficit. But no longer. Next year's dinner will probably be offered at sharply reduced rates. If at all. And may be held at Child's instead of the Mayflower.

In connection with the similarity of many of the administration attacks on the terrible 10 per cent, it is said profligate left-handed penman Tommy Corcoran ghosted 11 speeches recently. An all-time record for hauntings.

anarchy" of "America's Sixty Families." This is not true. We are all accomplices in our lawless traditions. Twelve years of national prohibition trained us to become a nation of "sofflaws."

The very system of "checks and balances," of which our constitution-huggers are so proud, has led to much irresponsible legislation, in which politicians wishing to curry favor with the voters, have passed the buck to the federal courts, relying on the judges to veto congressional follies or to bring order into their confused and contradictory measures.

This bad tradition of divided responsibility has created the curious caste of big business lawyers, whose job it is to persuade the courts to modify statutes or set aside whole laws in the interest of their wealthy clients.

The evils which now afflict us are too great and too deeply rooted to be the work of only a few men. It is our institutions themselves which are failing, our whole political theory which needs to be modified, rather than the punishment of the "Sixty Families" who have profited by our national weakness. These wealthy families are the result not the cause, of our own muddled-headedness and collective stupidities.

The time has now come—"a rendezvous with destiny"—in which we must all put away childish things and prepare to live by our own political decisions. This requires more than the co-operation of the sulky conservatives. It also requires wisdom and restraint on the part of the victorious liberals, if their political victories are to mean anything more than a mere straw-vote of the recent sentiments of the qualified electorate.
